Funds To Combat Florida Fruit Fly Pest Promised; Hoover To Ask Aid Today

Wider Front Extended in Fight Against Invading Destroyer of Vegetation.

Washington, April 23.—(By Staff Correspondent).—Following a conference today on the Mediterranean fruit fly situation between Director of Budget Lord and representatives of the southern states, Senator Duncan E. Fletcher, of Florida, announced that an agreement had been reached by administration officials to recommend all funds necessary to combat the pest.

President Hoover, it was stated, is expected to transmit a special message to congress tomorrow asking authority to divert all or a portion of the unexpended balance previously appropriated for fighting the pink boll weevil in Texas. Although $5,000,000 was originally appropriated for this purpose, department of agriculture officials found it necessary to spend only approximately $1,000,000 of this fund is available.

The conference with Director Lord was held after it was determined that special authority of congress would be necessary to divert the remaining portion of the pink boll weevil fund. Senator Fletcher, who attended the conference along with the entire Florida congressional delegation, representatives from Georgia and other southern states, said he was not at liberty to reveal the amount which Mr. Hoover will be asked to recommend. This will not be disclosed until the president's message reaches the House, he said.

Studies Quarantine. Meantime, Dr. C. L. Marlatt, chief of the federal quarantine and control board of the department of agriculture, engaged in further conferences with government entomologists and state officials over the extent of the quarantine to be placed on Florida, where the dreaded Mediterranean fly was first discovered recently. He stated late today that some announcements might be forthcoming within the next 48 hours, probably tomorrow.

Government officials, it was asserted were anxious not to impose any undue hardship on Florida shippers and producers, yet at the same time they want to take every precaution against the spread of the fruit and vegetable pest to other counties and adjoining states.

Already the department of agriculture has allotted out of its current appropriations the sum of $40,000 for fighting the pest, while the state of Florida has provided an additional fund of $50,000. These funds will be used for preliminary steps until further appropriations are available.

BATTLE EXTENDS OVER WIDE FRONT. Orlando Fla., April 23.—(P)—Battle against the Mediterranean fruit fly extended to new fronts today as presence of the pest was discovered in a citrus grove near De Leon Springs in Volusia county and in a packing house at Cocoa.

Motors felt the effects of the quarantine more so than ever in central Florida today when they were stopped by National Guardsmen who sprayed the interior of the cars to kill any chance flies that might be inside. Spraying of automobiles became necessary because of numerous flies now being hatched from fruit on the ground and because these flies, similar to the house fly in appearance, like to "take a lift" from motorists or in other vehicles much the same as other flies.

With a force of experts from California en route, Texas has given the latest addition to the forces engaged in extermination work.

ALABAMA URGED TO HAVE QUARANTINE.

Montgomery, Ala., April 23.—(P)—Fruit and vegetables in Alabama are menaced by a fruit fly that recently has caused extensive damage in Florida. G. E. Murrell, federal horticulturist, today informed S. M. Dunwoody, state commissioner of agriculture.

Georgia already has established a quarantine against Florida fruit, Murrell advised the commissioner, and urged that Alabama enforce a quarantine at once.

DEFENSE LINES SPREAD IN FRUIT BAN WAR.

Valdosta, Ga., April 23.—(Special).—The state and federal quarantine along the state line enforcing the embargo to prevent bulk fruit from coming into Georgia from Florida in the fight against the Mediterranean fruit fly has assumed important proportions and the tightening of the lines is shutting off all forbidden fruit.

From the Alabama state line west of Valdosta to Brunswick on the east every road is under a 24-hour guard, while squads of traveling inspectors are keeping watch on all possible avenues through which fruit might pass. Many truck loads of stuff getting by in the early stages of the quarantine were caught upstate and the fruit returned across the Florida line and dumped, where it is treated to kill any larvae.

ALL MOTORISTS HALTED AT THOMASVILLE.

Thomasville, Ga., April 23.—(Special).—Under the direction of the Georgia entomological department guards have been placed on the various highways in Thomas county that lead into Florida to prevent importation of the Mediterranean fruit fly. Posts are set up on either side of a highway with a cross-beam at the top and a guard stationed. At night red lights are hung on the posts and the guard with a red lantern, waves down all automobiles who chance along.

$1 BILL RAISED TO $10 ABANDONED AND OWNER FLEES

"George," the proprietor of a soft drink stand at 147 Butler street, Tuesday night found himself in possession of a very novel piece of currency handed him by a negro customer who departed very precipitately from the shop with a "seeing his purchase or the change for his strange bill."

The bank note on one side looks like a regular $10 bill, but on the other side reveals it to be a $1 bill.

"George" reported to police that the negro ordered two packages of cigarettes and proffered the note with the more imposing side uppermost. As the storekeeper took the currency he noticed that it seemed to be a little thick and after flipping it over reached for his pistol. The customer started for the door and a spirited chase followed. Officers stated that the bill was an example of the work of "bill-splitters." Several bills of this kind have been reported to police recently.

Hurley To Observe Night Aircraft Target Practice

Washington, April 23.—(P)—Assistant Secretary of War Patrick J. Hurley will leave Washington by air tomorrow afternoon for Fort Monroe, Va., where he will observe anti-aircraft night firing by the 61st and 62nd regiments of coast artillery at that point in their annual target practice. On Thursday morning a daylight demonstration will be given for him and he will return to Washington that afternoon.

Forgetting Cares of State, Roosevelt Enjoys Vacation

Warm Springs, Ga., April 23.—(P)—Definitely having left behind him temporarily the cares of state, Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt, of New York, settled down today to take full advantage of a spring vacation here in the restful solitude of Warm Springs.

Combining a systematic schedule of exercises which he always follows here with short motor tours over the countryside and long moments of ease in his cottage the chief executive of the Empire State was in holiday mood as he adapted himself anew to his rustic surroundings.

He made it plain at the outset that he was here for a rest, the first he has had since his inauguration and that he would permit nothing save the most urgent business of state to interfere with that program.

Only one engagement is on the governor's schedule. That is one he made more than a year ago to deliver the commencement address at the Fourth District A. and M. college at Carrollton, about 50 miles from here, on May 6. He plans to go there by automobile, returning the same day.

Otherwise he hopes to remain in seclusion as much as possible so as to benefit fully from his stay here, which will be until the latter part of May.

Mr. and Mrs. D. Basil O'Connor, of New York City, who accompanied him here, expect to remain as his guests until next Saturday. Later, Mrs. Roosevelt and the governor's mother expect to join him here.

The New York executive began the first day of his vacation with a plunge in the Warm Springs pool, which always is a part of his daily recreation here. He swam vigorously for half an hour, mingling happily with patients at the infantile paralysis colony here at their daily exercises, and many of them greeted him as old friends.

Mr. and Mrs. O'Connor joined him in the pool. In the afternoon, Governor Roosevelt went for his customary motor ride, accompanied by his secretary and a secret service man.

George Foster Penbody, New York banker and philanthropist and a director of the Warm Springs foundation, of which the governor is the head, has been at his cottage here for two weeks.

STRUCK BY ROCK CHILD SUFFERS FRACTURED SKULL

George Ross Scott, 8-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Scott, of 387 North avenue, Tuesday night was in Grady hospital with a fractured skull suffered Tuesday afternoon when he was struck with a rock while playing with a group of children near the Shiloh school. The boy's mother told hospital attendants that the lad had been accidentally struck by a large stone thrown by a larger and older boy.

Fred Summers, 14-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Summers, of 818 Grant street, was treated at Grady hospital late Tuesday afternoon for severe cuts about the head, received when he fell from a bicycle he was riding near his home.

ARKANSAS ROAD GETS PERMISSION TO EXTEND LINE

Washington, April 23.—(P)—The Arkansas Western Railway Company obtained permission today from the interstate commerce commission to extend its line 24 miles in Scott county, Arkansas, the construction to run from Waldron to a point located southeasterly from that town, without passage through other incorporated communities.

VICTIM OF AMNESIA RECOVERING MEMORY

M. N. McKee Returns Home; Reports Loss of Several Hundred Dollars.

W. N. McKee, Egan Park salesman and supposed amnesia victim was believed to be slowly recovering his memory at Grady hospital Tuesday night, more than 24 hours after he returned to his home after an absence of six days, minus some $200 to $300, and with no recollection of his experiences.

According to Mrs. McKee, her husband left home on Tuesday, April 16, to attend to his business in and around Cartersville, where he is employed as furniture salesman and collector by the Southern Supply company. When he failed to return home by Thursday she notified Cartersville police.

Returning from a conference with Cartersville authorities Monday afternoon, Mrs. McKee found her husband at home. He said that he had been brought home by friends, but that he could remember nothing that occurred between Thursday and the following Monday. He remembered, he said, attending to his business on the day he left home and the following day, but lost his memory on Thursday night or Friday.

GRANDDAUGHTER OF PAUL REVERE HELPER PASSES

Melrose, Mass., April 23.—(P)—Miss Harriet Hancock Newman, 84, granddaughter of Robert Newman, who on the night of April 18, 1775, signalled to Paul Revere with lanterns from the belfry of the old North church, Boston, that the British were starting for Lexington and Concord, died here today.

RAILWAY CANCELS PLEA TO CLOSE SIX AGENCIES

Central of Georgia Withdraws Petition—Southern Must Keep Lula Branch.

Application of the Central of Georgia railway to discontinue six agencies was withdrawn Tuesday by the petitioner at the hearing of the Georgia public service commission.

The commission denied the application of the Southern railway to revise passenger service on the Athens-Lula branch, and granted the application of the Sylvania Central railway to discontinue one round trip daily of two between Sylvania and Rockford.

Among those appearing before the commission in the Central of Georgia agency matter were F. J. Robinson, executive general agent, and M. B. Smith, of Macon, superintendent of the Central of Georgia, and Floyd Newton, R. D. Richter, Brook Pennington, C. L. Cochran, Claude Burdette and Allen Cross, of Godfrey, and Q. L. Williford, of Madison; Harry Houghton, W. F. Hager, J. M. Whitehead, H. E. Williams, R. S. Durham,

R. W. Hainey, H. T. Tolbert and John C. Saxon, of Farmington. Mayor C. J. Hood, of Commerce, John Maxey, J. B. Hardman, Luther Payne and Governor L. G. Hardman appeared before the commission in the Athens-Lula branch matter, while the railroad was represented by J. C. Beam, of Atlanta, assistant general passenger agent; L. S. Hungerford, of Charlotte, general superintendent, and M. O. Dunbar, of Greenville, superintendent. The railroad sought to save $13 daily in overtime by revising the Athens-Lula branch passenger service, but the commission, considering the revenue of the Southern as a whole, showing substantial earnings, decided against the petition.

The Central of Georgia sought to discontinue agencies at Godfrey, Round Oak, Farmington, Morrow, Orchard Hills and The Rock.

Charles Maloney, president of the Sylvania Central, accompanied by J. A. McDermott, appeared before the commission in the matter of the round trip between Sylvania and Rockford.

STATE'S INTEREST TO BE ATTRACTED BY U. S. EGG WEEK

Poultry raisers and egg consumers in Georgia will take a prominent part in the celebration of "National Egg Week," May 1 through May 7, according to Eugene Talmadge, commissioner of agriculture of Georgia.

Programs are being arranged whereby people generally will be informed as to the value of eggs as a food. Eggs are used in many foods and are said to be the most universal food in the world, as chickens are grown and eggs are served at practically all eating places a traveler may visit. It is pointed out that there are no substitutes for eggs and nothing found to take their place in foods. Eggs are served in some form at practically every meal prepared in the state each day.

The poultry industry in Georgia is valued at $40,000,000 yearly and is greatly on the increase. Poultry cars are run throughout the state, as many as 47 towns being visited in a single week, these pick-up cars affording a cash market for the farmers' poultry. The state uses eggs alone valued at $22,000,000 annually and only produces about $15,000,000 worth, which means the people are sending out of the state $7,000,000 annually for a product that we might as well grow at home. Georgia climate is especially adapted to poultry raising and the farmers of the state, in addition to furnishing the local supply, could find many nearby markets for eggs.

Members of the celebration committee for Georgia include F. H. Reynolds, of the Georgia Poultry Raisers' Association, East Point; Professor J. H. Wood, poultry husbandman of the state college of agriculture, Athens; E. Ross Jordan, of Macon; W. O. Reich, of Columbus; R. L. Vansant, of Marietta; E. H. Kinnebrew, of the state bureau of markets, Atlanta; G. F. Wiley, of Carrollton; W. P. Hixson, of Augusta; Mrs. G. V. Gate, of Brunswick; O. W. Caswell, of Americus; M. H. Abel, of Washington; A. A. Bennett, of Sandersville, and E. D. Craig, of Savannah.

NEGROES REPORT MUCH PROGRESS IN CLEAN-UP WORK

Reports turned in by negroes of the city of the organized work done by members of negro federated clubs during Clean Up Week, contain the information that there were 150 homes visited, 250 on the northeast side of town, 100 on the southeast and 300 on the southwest. Several newly painted houses and 20 new vegetable gardens were announced Tuesday.

In each of these homes visited by the committee, actual Clean Up Week work was done as follows: Houses were painted, yards cleaned up and beautified, all trash and rubbish burned, fences mended, and gardens and shrubs, etc., planted. In each community visited a committee was formed to follow-up work, making the movement year-round. Also each home owner or resident signed a pledge to keep his home in a clean and attractive condition.

In the negro schools, Clean Up Week was combined with a good health and sanitation program. Fifteen thousand negro children signed pledges to observe the laws of health, sanitation and hygiene, and to encourage others to improve their living, housing and working conditions, so as to "live 100 years."

The negroes will carry on the work of Clean Up Week as a permanent activity, it was stated.

On May 4 following close of the Atlanta season, Miss Ponselle will sail on the S. S. Leviathan for England where she will make her European debut at Covent Garden, London, on May 28 in the opera "Norma."

At Covent Garden, as at the Metropolitan, this opera is being revived especially for Miss Ponselle. There.

Famed Resort of

Wrecked by Fire

New York, April 23.—(A)—A black cat was the only pet to escape when the "Pirates' Den," one of the best-known of the Greenwich Village resorts, was wrecked by fire today.

Fifteen other pets of Don Dickerman, owner of the place, including cats, parrots, macaws and canaries, were burned to death.

A valuable collection of pirate relics, which Dickerman had spent years in collecting, was destroyed. How the fire started is a mystery.

as in this country, it has not been given since the days of Lilli Lehmann. In addition to the opera "Norma," Miss Ponselle also will sing "La Gioconda."

Although Miss Ponselle's name and fame already have penetrated to the far corners of the earth she has, so far, never sung outside of the United States, Canada and Cuba, and never has sung with any other opera company than the Metropolitan Opera Company of New York.

FILM darkens teeth
Remove it daily

Film discolors teeth and then destroys them.
Dentists urge a special way to remove it.

FOR years thousands thought their teeth naturally discolored and dull. Then they made a simple test that brought a glorious surprise.

A film was found to absorb stains from food and smoking and turn white teeth dull. It clings to teeth, gets into crevices and stays. It is the chief cause of the commoner tooth and gum disorders.

Film hardens into tartar. Germs by the millions breed in it. They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea. Film must be removed each day. Ordinary brushing fails to do it successfully. So dentists urge the special film-removing dentifrice called Pepsodent.

Write for free 10-day supply to The Pepsodent Co., 1104 S. Wabash Ave., Chicago, or ask your druggist for full-size tube.

MEX REBELS DECLARE ARMS FROM GERMANY

Officials Decline To Say Whether Government or Private Action.

El Paso, Texas, April 23.—(P)—Mexican rebels at Juarez claimed last night that their forces are being supplied with war munitions from Germany but declined to say whether they are being shipped by the German government or by private corporations. A German ship loaded with arms and ammunition, especially small arms, docked at Yavaros, on the west coast of Sonora, and immediately dispatched the materials to General J. G. Escobar, supreme rebel commander, who now is in the vicinity of San Blas, it was reported.

Although Mexican federal authorities said their intelligence departments had failed to gain any confirmation of the reports, they declared they had been anticipating such actions.

United States federal authorities declared that if rebel claims were true, the shipments must have been sent by private German firms. They pointed out that the German government would be unlikely to incur the displeasure of the United States through such a step.

Ziegler, Old Newspaperman, Now Aid to Gatti-Casazza

BY PAUL STEVENSON.

In Edward Ziegler, assistant general manager of the Metropolitan Opera Company, that company has the unusual spectacle of a gifted newspaper writer stepping into the role of business manager and making good to a marked degree.

Before he assumed the multiple business duties of first assistant to General Manager Gatti-Casazza, he was music critic on the New York World and also on the New York Herald. In these positions he won national fame as a critic of more than the ordinary discernment concerning musical affairs and also because of the brilliancy of his musical reviews of operas and of the debuts of other internationally famed musicians in the concert field in New York.

After becoming identified with the business end of the great opera organization he displayed a marked grasp of business affairs. He is now finishing his eleventh season in his present position and is looked upon as the logical successor of Manager Gatti-Casazza should that great impresario see fit, for any reason, to retire from his present duties. Ziegler also is a close personal friend of Otto H. Kahn who has done so much work in placing the Metropolitan Opera Company on a sound business basis.

Miss Aida Doninelli, young soprano, who is paying her first visit to Atlanta as a member of the Metropolitan force, is a native of Guatemala City, Guatemala. She received her early musical education in that city under the direction of her sister and later won a place with the Metropolitan company. She is one of the smallest and faintest of the women members of the company and easily one of the prettiest.

The tallest man in the Metropolitan company, is Ezio Pinza. Incidentally he has one of the biggest voices of any member of that company.

Because Antonio Scotti, veteran baritone, is not in Atlanta on the present trip does not mean that he is not a member of the Metropolitan company. It was explained Tuesday by William Guard, veteran press agent.

"Scotti is still with the organization, being one of its oldest members," Mr. Guard said. "He is not on the present trip because there happened to be no role which particularly required his services in the operas to be sung during the Atlanta engagement."

No longer do people pity a person with pimples or other displeasing skin blemishes. In fact they are apt to criticize and avoid such a person, because pimples are usually a sign of carelessness and neglect.

If you want to be admired for a clear, healthy complexion ask for Black and White Ointment and use it according to directions. It is pleasant to use, highly beneficial and scientifically safe.

For best results use Black and White Skin Soap with Black and White Ointment. All dealers sell them at small cost. —(adv.)

Three Auto Victims Buried. Six Injured in Hospital.

Rome, Ga., April 23.—(P)—Graves today claimed three victims of a head-on auto collision near Calhoun Sunday in which all members of two families who were riding in the cars were injured or killed.

Funerals were held at separate communities as members of each family confined in hospitals were unable to attend the rites.

Miss Margaret Chapman was buried at Trion this afternoon at her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Chapman lay in a local hospital so badly injured they could not leave their beds.

At the little burial plot of Enon church near Shannon, Mrs. Mary C. Bennett, wife of William C. Bennett, and their twin daughter, Mae, were laid to rest while the twin sister, Fay, lay in her hospital bed here.

Little Yassie Chapman, three-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Chapman, who suffered a crushed skull, is still in a state of coma with her life in the balance, and Emmett (Buster) Chapman, who received concussion of the brain, is also in a critical condition. Both are in local hospitals.

According to reports received by investigating officers, E. J. Chapman, driving his car down a hill, lost control and crashed head-on into a car driven by Mae Bennett, killing Miss Bennett and Margaret Chapman and injuring the Bennett girl's mother so severely she died Sunday night. William C. Bennett, husband and father of two of the deceased, was not in the Bennett car.

Of those injured Alice Chapman, daughter of J. M. Chapman, and T. Y. Bennett, were discharged Sunday from the hospital and Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Chapman left this morning.

Those still remaining in the hospital are:

Yassie Chapman, serious skull injuries, possibly may prove fatal. J. M. Chapman, scalp wounds and mangled hand.

Mrs. J. M. Chapman, broken leg. Emmett (Buster) Chapman, concussion of brain.

Fay Bennett, dislocated hip and lacerations.

W. C. Bennett, Jr., cuts and dislocations.

EX-MACON HOSPITAL HEAD MAKES BOND IN KANSAS CITY, MO.

Macon, Ga., April 23.—(P)—Dr. Joe R. Clemmons, former superintendent of the Macon hospital, has posted bond in the sum of $1,000 in Kansas City, Mo., acknowledging service of a warrant sworn to in this district charging him with violation of the national prohibition act, it was announced this afternoon by the district attorney's office.

The warrant was made returnable to the May term of United States district court, which opens May 6, Wallace Miller, former assistant district attorney, is Clemmons' lawyer.

The federal warrant, sworn to soon after Dr. Clemmons was relieved of his duties, charges him with possessing, transporting, selling, and distributing, with falsifying records of tax-free alcohol, and with unlawfully using tax-free alcohol for beverage purposes. The alcohol was that used by the hospital, costing less than 50 cents a gallon. The tax prescribed by the government is more than $6 per gallon.

Special investigators were here a few days ago and went over Clemmons' records on the use of alcohol at the hospital. No statement has been made by the investigators.

NEW BUICKS

at our Showrooms all this week

"We have never before experienced so much joy in driving any automobile. This is our second Buick and we are more than pleased with its outstanding performance and beauty."

Mr. and Mrs. C. I. P. Decatur, Ill. (name upon request)

What warmer praise—what more worthwhile endorsement could any motor car receive... what stronger expression of confidence, than this enthusiastic statement, so typical of the tribute Buick is winning from owners everywhere!

From one end of the country to the other, tens of thousands of men and women have accepted Buick's invitation to get behind the wheel and get the facts about Buick power, acceleration, swiftness and flexibility. And after the most searching test, they have entered orders for more than twice as many Buicks as any other automobile priced above $1200.

Do as these motorists have done! Make an actual driving test! Compare Buick with other cars in traffic, on hills, on the highway. Then you'll know why Buick owners are so outspoken in their praise. Then you, too, will be satisfied only with a Buick!

Secretary of State Finds Law Orders His Home in Capitol

Somebody is always taking the joy out of life. Just when George Carwell, secretary of state, became securely ensconced in his Atlanta residence, somebody had to go and dig up an old Georgia statute which prescribes that the secretary of state shall live in the "capitol."

Of the old statute, Mr. Carwell went through the usual act of registering deep thought, and then gave it up. "At that, I might have a roof bungalow installed on the dome," Mr. Carwell opined. "Or I might get the janitor to dust out a corner of the cellar and fix me up a pallet or something. That roof bungalow idea is not so bad at that."

The Arithmetic of PACKARD OWNERSHIP

IT IS just elementary arithmetic that buying two cars each lasting only half as long as one costing twice as much, results in the same expenditure of money in the same length of time.

Elementary arithmetic, yes. And yet if every man and woman who really wants to drive a Packard Eight, who recognizes the beauty, the luxury and the undeniable distinction of Packard ownership, were to sit down and actually figure the thing out in terms of their own car costs—the Packard factory would have to be multiplied in capacity every year.

For there are hundreds of thousands of motorists who are not driving cheaper cars because they prefer them to Packards. They are driving cheaper cars because they believe they cannot afford Packard ownership. They think the cheaper cars are cheaper to own!

Perhaps you are one of those thousands. If you are, just follow through our reasoning. Tens of thousands of owners of cars costing down to ten or twelve hundred dollars have done so. And then become the proud owners of new Packard cars.

The Eight Costs—

There are eight items of cost in owning any car and first cost is not one of them. Compare each of these costs, item by item, as between your present car and a Packard Standard Eight. You will find:

That the license cost is little if any more, and only a few dollars in any case.

That insurance may be slightly more due to the greater value of the Packard. But this applies principally to fire and theft coverage—a very small sum annually.

That garage cost is the same.

That the three operating items—gas, oil and tires—show no advantage for either car. The Packard Standard Eight gives 10 to 12 miles or more to the gallon of gasoline; 1000 or more miles to the gallon of oil; 15,000 to 20,000 or more miles to the set of tires. What "half-price" car does better?

That Packard repairs cost less. This is due, first, to the simplicity of Packard design which makes repair work quick and easy; second, to Packard quality which requires less frequent repair, and, third, to Packard's automatic chassis and motor lubrication which protect factory precision.

That depreciation on a Packard costs no more and quite likely less than you are now paying.

Those are the eight costs—and the only costs to consider—in owning a motor car.

Unless You Are Very Unusual

You may agree readily with all of the above statements except the last—the really important one, about depreciation. And yet, unless you are very unusual, the fact that Packard Eight depreciation will cost you no more than your present car costs you, is absolutely true. For you will keep a Packard Eight twice as long!

The Packard is a long-lived car. It is designed and built to give many years of first-class transportation. You are not tempted, either by lowered service from your Packard or by radical changes in new models, to turn your Packard Eight in after 20 months or so. You will keep it because you want to keep it. And in doing so you will enjoy the car you really want, the car everyone admires, at no greater expense than that to which you are now accustomed.

May we go further into your individual case using actual figures? We will be glad to do so without obligation. And a Packard Eight will be at your door at any hour you name. Just phone.

Opera Stars Luncheon Guests Of Rotary and Civitan Clubs

BETTER-KNOWN ARIAS ARE SUNG

Visiting artists of the Metropolitan Opera Company were guests Tuesday at weekly luncheon meetings of the Atlanta Rotary Club and the Civitan Club.

Millo Pico, baritone, and Edward Johnson, tenor, together with Fausto Cleve, accompanist, attended the Rotary luncheon and were given ovations after they had sung numbers from the better known operas. Joseph McPherson, Charlotte Ryan and Falco Philbin were Civitan guests.

OVATIONS GIVEN TO OPERA FAVORITES

Afternoon will be another big event. This will be followed by the annual dinner-dance at the Piedmont Driving Club with Harry M. Atkinson, president of the Atlanta Music Festival Association, as the host, and other festivities which will round out the proverbially brilliant week.

Triumphs for Stars.
Tuesday night was a night of triumph for Rosa Ponselle and a night of plaudits for Lauri-Volpi. This great team unquestionably came into its own in the sterling favorite, "Aida," and the crowd literally went wild with time again in its applause. Miss Ponselle sang with even more enthusiasm and fervor than she has on many of her former appearances here. Lauri-Volpi, singing here for the first time in several years, sang as if inspired, and set a new high mark for ambitious tenors to surpass. Reminiscences of the days of Caruso were brought with this great young tenor's singing and acting. His voice is of wonderful flexibility and variety of tone. He sings with poise and ease, yet his voice is one of wonderful power.

Another favorite who won new laurels was Julia Claussen, contralto, who sang the important role of Amneris, in association with Miss Ponselle's Aida, and the Radames of Lauri-Volpi. Others who came in for generous shares of the approbation were Joseph McPherson, a southern product, singing the role of the king; lauded Atlanta for its support of the Metropolitan organization.

It was "Mrs. Civitan's" day Tuesday in the regular series of weekly luncheons held by the club at the Atlanta Athletic Club. Civitans attended this event in company with their wives and friends, and the gathering was one of the most pleasant in the history of the luncheon series.

Entertainment features were provided by the opera stars, who sang a number of favorite arias. R. K. Rambo and Dr. Cecil Stockard were in charge of the program.

Mrs. Earl Quillian, chairman of the entertainment committee for the women's division of the international convention to be held in Atlanta soon, outlined plans for the entertainment of wives of visiting Civitans from all parts of the United States and Canada.

She stated that barbecues, swimming parties, bridge parties, fashion shows, breakfasts and numerous other features will be staged in honor of the host of women who will be in the city in connection with the international convention.

Melodies Prove Popular.

"Aida's" melodies are almost of the household variety and among the best received Tuesday night were Mr. Lauri-Volpi's Celeste, Aida, Miss Ponselle's arias and her duet with Lauri-Volpi in the last act, Miss Claussen's stirring numbers and the crashing, crashing ensembles of the second act.

The corps de ballet presented some marvelous dancing while the staging of the entire opera was of massive and stupendous scale. Miss Rita de la Porte contributed one dance of graceful symmetry. The grand march was a scene of splendor with more than 100 people on the stage with an extra band of trumpeters.

Beautiful and glorious "Aida," a gem of all gems in its entrancing melodies; a spectacle of all spectacles in the massive staging and stupendous effects and for sheer beauty one of the greatest operas of any kind ever composed, could do nothing save score one of the record hits of the season.

It taxes all the resources of the great opera company in the large chorus directors, and the huge staff of stage hands are needed in the opera, which is one of tremendous dramatic power.

Another set in ancient Egypt, the opera offers almost innumerable resources in colorful dramatic pictures and in the theme development of its impressive score. Notwithstanding its tragic incidents, it lends itself to rare beauty in melody. In no other of the immortal Verdi can be found so many tuneful numbers and even in the spectacular arias and in the masterly stage pictures, the music remains delightful and enchanting in its simplicity. The veriest opera tyro and the most sophisticated of musicians equally can enjoy "Aida."

Famous Singers Who Will Delight Atlanta in 'Manon' Tonight

Ponselle Is Ideal.
Rosa Ponselle, the incomparable of all modern "Aidas," is a singer of such emotional dramatic tendencies that she is ideal in such a role.

Few sopranos possess the dual capacity of a powerful voice of rare sweetness that penetrates to every nook and corner of a vast building like the auditorium, who also possess the capacity of handling great emotional climaxes with the power and perfection of a great actress.

What a happy selection the opera management made in a cast that brings with Rosa Ponselle in the title role of "Aida" such associated singers as Giacomo Lauri-Volpi as the passionate and intrepid "Radames," Julia Claussen as the stately but vindictive "Amneris," and Mario Basilio as the tempestuous "Amneris," one of the greatest baritone roles in opera.

Tragic Figure.
Then, too, such distinguished artists as Ezio Pinza, rumbling basso as "Ramfis," and Joseph McPherson in the heavy and powerful part of "The King," one of opera's most tragic yet most appealing figures. The all-around ability of Alfio Tedesco is taxed as a messenger, and the huge staff of stage hands are needed in the opera, which is one of tremendous dramatic power.

TENNESSEE ACT ATTACKED; MADE LAW ON SUNDAY

Nashville, Tenn., April 23.—(P)—Constitutionality of the state's general appropriation act was attacked in a bill filed in chancery court today because the bill became a law on Sunday. Noah W. Cooper, taxpayer, filed the bill which contends the act is invalid. It does not seek an injunction.

The bill was signed on the first Sunday the general assembly was in session within the memory of legislature's oldest members. It was passed on Friday, but did not get the governor's signature until noon Sunday. At the time there was much comment from the legislators on the active Sunday session.

Of these, 107 were eliminated by the construction of underpasses or overpasses and 283 by relocation of highways. Since 1917, the bureau said, 4,201 crossings have been excluded from the federal highways.

Distinguished by a Deep REGARD

THERE can be no conceit in claiming America's deep regard for Pierce-Arrow. It is a sentiment that has its roots in a former generation—and is warmly present in today's. But the significant point is why this is so:

Perhaps the chief reason is the inherent fineness of the car. Never has it known a compromise with quality—never a departure from the patrician way that has always been Pierce-Arrow. And so in cleaving to its own ideals it has won the loyalty of a nation.

The new Straight Eight came into this great heritage at the psychological moment in Pierce-

Arrow history. Fine car owners had so wearied of bulk and stodginess in their automobiles that this fresh, slender creation of Pierce-Arrow made record conquests from the moment of its introduction.

No other fine car in America today knows so great a waiting demand.

SINCLAIR WILL SERVE IN OCCOQUAN PRISON

Change Made in Sentence To Permit Transfer to Jail for Medical Work.

BY HERBERT LITTLE.

United News Staff Correspondent. Washington, April 23.—(AP)—Harry F. Sinclair, the oil multi-millionaire, will serve his three-month sentence for contempt of the senate in the Occoquan workhouse, on the banks of the Potomac, near here, instead of in the Red Brick district jail as originally planned.

He would be transferred to the district jail if hospital attention were necessary, it was explained by George S. Wilson, director of public welfare for the District of Columbia, who made the announcement. It is not thought this will be necessary.

The oil magnate will be given a physical examination, such as that for all prisoners, when he gives himself up for his jail sentence, expected about May 4, Wilson explained. If he is in good physical condition, he will be sent to the workhouse. Wilson was reluctant to discuss the case, saying the welfare board had taken no action on the case and would not until it receives Sinclair's commitment papers.

The multi-millionaire oil man probably will be put to work on the prison farm or in the brick plant at Occoquan. There is little shade about the workhouse and the heat becomes intense in summer months, during which Sinclair will be confined there.

While arrangements were being considered for carrying out the three-month sentence for contempt of the senate, the oil man's lawyers continued their attempts to convince the supreme court it should not uphold Sinclair's six-month sentence for jury shadowing, their arguments being interrupted frequently by questions from the bench.

Martin W. Littleton, closing the arguments on Sinclair's appeal, contended no malice influence was shown by the record of Burns detectives' espionage over the Fall-Sinclair trial jurors.

Fair Weather Booked Today For Opera Fans

Fully in keeping with Atlanta's traditionally perfect opera week, more ideal weather is slated for the city today, according to forecast of C. F. von Herrmann, local meteorologist, who states that "fair and warmer" is an accurate description of what may be expected hereabouts.

A reasonably chilly minimum of 53 early Tuesday morning was changed into a very comfortable maximum of 68 later in the day when Old Sol got busy, unhandicapped by clouds and other forms of trouble. Today's range is expected to be from 56 up to about 75.

HOOVER IS TOLD DETAILS OF ROOT COURT FORMULA

Washington, April 23.—(AP)—Elihu Root described the formula recently worked out at Geneva for American entry to the World Court in detail to President Hoover and Secretary Stimson today at a luncheon conference at the White House.

Mr. Root recently returned from the Geneva conference, at which he and other international jurists formulated the plan. It was aimed to facilitate American adherence to the court by obviating senate objections, while composing the differences between America and the European nations arising from senate reservations.

Senate Passes Bill To Send Marine Band To Confederate Meet

Washington, April 23.—(AP)—The senate today passed a bill to defray expenses of sending the marine band to North Carolina in June to attend the Confederate veterans' reunion.

The measure which would authorize an appropriation of $7,500, drew fire from Chairman Smoot, of the finance committee, who suggested that such a bill ought to originate in the house. Half a dozen senators immediately voiced opposing views.

Senator Swanson, democrat, Virginia, observed that when such action becomes necessary it is time for us to abrogate our rights and cease to be a co-equal body of this government.

Chairman Warren, of the appropriations committee, declared that the practice of initiating supply bills in the house is "a habit of long standing and ought to be maintained."

The bill finally was passed without objection.

Advisory Council Is Named For Pitcairn Aviation, Inc.

JOHN K. OTTLEY.

PRESTON S. ARKWRIGHT.

Announcement of an advisory council for Pitcairn Aviation, Inc., with Preston S. Arkwright, president of the Georgia Power Company, and John K. Ottley, president of the Fourth National bank, as Atlanta members was made Saturday. The new advisory council consists of nine prominent men in the various cities along the Atlanta-New York air mail line operated by Pitcairn, Inc.

Harold F. Pitcairn, president of the company, in commenting upon the announcement of the advisory council said, "The acceptance of Mr. Arkwright, Mr. Ottley and other men of their ability assures us of the best judgment available in shaping the policies of the company to provide the most efficient service to present and future patrons of our airlines."

"With the belief that the sound development of aviation is vital to the growth of our cities, these men have generously accepted our invitation to aid in directing the future activities."

"This active co-operation is real inspiration and a justification of the faith that we had in Atlanta and the south when several years ago our company was sole bidder on the Atlanta-New York air mail contract," Mr. Pitcairn said.

The Atlanta members of the advisory council are not only well known and highly respected throughout Georgia and the south, but have also been honored by being chosen chairman of a meeting held by the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company in New York to consider the migration from New England and the east to the south-east.

His constant efforts to "sell Georgia" not only to native Georgians, but also to eastern financial and manufacturing interests, have proved an important factor in locating some of the south's largest mills and factories in Georgia.

John K. Ottley is well known as president of the Fourth National bank, in addition to which he heads the Fourth National Associates and Fourth National Company, and is a director of the Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph Company, and the Central of Georgia Railway. Twice he has served on the executive committee of the American Bankers' association, and at one time was president of the Clearing House section of that association. For six years he served as a director of the Atlanta Federal Reserve bank.

The other members of the advisory council include: Clarence M. Brown, of Philadelphia, vice president and general counsel, Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company; John Stewart Bryan, of Richmond, president and publisher, Richmond News Leader; Tazewell M. Carrington, of Richmond, chairman of board, Tobacco Association of United States; Edwin Bedford Jeffers, of Greensboro, mayor of Greensboro; H. A. Ligon, of Spartanburg, president and treasurer, Arcadia Mills; Paul C. Lindley, of Greensboro, president and treasurer, Lindley Nurseries, Inc.; and Victor M. Montgomery, of Spartanburg, president and treasurer, Pacolet Manufacturing Company.

In reviewing the growth of Pitcairn Aviation, Incorporated, which on May first will round out the first year of operation of the Atlanta-New York air mail route, Mr. Pitcairn called attention to the increase in mileage flown and tonnage carried during the past year; the former having grown from 1,526 miles daily on May, 1928 to 3,228 miles daily at present, while the pounds of air mail carried by the Pitcairn lines, 8,623 pounds in May, 1928, increased to 41,376 pounds carried in March of this year. A considerable proportion of both of these increases is due to the addition of the Atlanta-Tampa-Miami route to the Pitcairn operation, but Mr. Pitcairn pointed out that the mail on the Atlanta-New York route alone has increased approximately two hundred per cent in the past year.

He stated that the local operating units and flying schools maintained by this company at Atlanta, Spartanburg, Greensboro, Richmond, and Philadelphia have also shown a very satisfactory growth since their inception in 1927. The next important service to be put into operation by his company, is the Atlanta-Spartanburg-Greensboro link of the New York-Miami air passenger line.

"I wish I could tell the whole world what a wonderful medicine Sargon is, for it has made me feel like a new person and I will praise it the longest day I live."

For a time today she was in jail with Fred Erwin Beal, southern organizer for the National Textile Workers Union. Beal was arrested earlier in the day in connection with $5,000 suit brought against him by Troy Jones, who charged that Beal enticed his wife to leave home and go to New York with a party of textile workers to raise strike relief funds.

The 5,000 or more strikers in the Carolinas were joined today by employees of the Calvine unit in Charlotte of the Chadwick-Hoskins chain. They left work after their demand for reinstatement of members of the National Textile Workers Union, who had been discharged, was refused.

CIGAR BOX FACTORY CLOSED AFTER WALKOUT. Johnson City, Tenn., April 23.—(AP)—Approximately 200 employees of the American Cigar Box Company, Johnson City, struck this morning, charging that A. W. Spencer, superintendent of the plant, had discharged approximately 25 union men without cause. The mill was closed indefinitely following the walkout.

The mill employs approximately 220 men and manufactures cigar boxes. Representatives of the employees said that they reported for work at 7 o'clock this morning and then walked out without disturbance. They demand that the discharged union men be re-employed. It was said that 185 of the employees are affiliated with the union.

2 FURNITURE MILLS CLOSE IN VIRGINIA. Staunton, Va., April 23.—(AP)—Two furniture factories of Staunton, Va., and another in Waynesboro, Va., all of which are under the same control, operated today with a partial force as a result of a walkout of approximately 400 workmen of the three plants yesterday. A mass meeting of the striking workmen was held in Waynesboro this morning and another in Staunton this afternoon. At the morning meeting a document of four demands was drawn up and adopted. It calls for removal of K. R. McKee, formerly of Ft. Smith, Ark., new manager of the Waynesboro plant, removal of all women employed in the Waynesboro plant, with the stipulation that no more women be employed; reinstatement to their former position at their former wages of all employees discharged or resigned on account of the new management at Waynesboro; restoration of every foreman to his original position and with his original authority.

BAPTIST DIVINES CLASH ON DOCTRINE QUESTION

Protestants "Scare Converts Into Churches" Is Charge.

Ashburn, Ga., April 23.—(AP)—Rev. Andrew Caraker, pastor of the First Baptist church, Cordele, addressing a conference of south Georgia Baptist ministers here today, declared that "Protestant denominations were an offshoot of the Catholic church, holding to the doctrines of purgatory, hell-fire and brimstone in an effort to scare converts into the church."

The Rev. Mr. Caraker also said that "such a doctrine is inconsistent with the love of God and contrary to the teachings of Christ."

Rev. D. B. Nicholson, student secretary of the Georgia Baptist convention assigned to the University of Georgia, at Athens, interrupted the Rev. Caraker's statements. Rev. T. F. Callaway, of Thomasville, defended the latter's position. Mr. Callaway referred to the gospel as preached by Mr. Caraker as "the curse of present day evangelism," and "the absence of hell-fire and brimstone doctrines in the pulpit today are responsible for the wave of immorality and crime."

Dr. John D. Mell, president of the Georgia Baptist convention, was among those who heard the exchange of remarks, but declined to participate in the discussion when appealed to for a ruling on what Mr. Caraker described as attempts by Mr. Nicholson and Mr. Callaway to take the floor from him.

Immediately after the meeting most of the ministers left for their homes, but Doctor Mell and Mr. Nicholson went to Mount Vernon to inspect Parker Institute, a Baptist school at that place.

CALVIN COOLIDGE'S 1928 SUMMER HOME OFFERED FOR SALE

Superior, Wis., April 23.—(AP)—Calvin Coolidge's 1928 summer home is for sale. The 4,400-acre estate of Henry Clay Pierce and Cedar Island lodge, the 1928 summer White House, has been put into the hands of a Minneapolis real estate concern. Although the price of the property was not announced, it was estimated the land, through which runs the Brule river, was valued at a million dollars.

'I WILL PRAISE IT AS LONG AS I LIVE,' MRS. WISE STATES

Atlanta Woman Says Rheumatism and Other Troubles Yielded to Sargon Treatment.

"I wish I could tell the whole world what a wonderful medicine Sargon is, for it has made me feel like a new person and I will praise it the longest day I live."

MRS. MARY WISE.

"I had stomach trouble and rheumatism so bad that I could hardly stand the suffering. I had to be so careful about what I ate that I really did not care for anything. Regardless of what I would eat, it would throw me into severe pains that made me feel bloated like I was going to smother to death. My liver was sluggish and I was constipated so badly that I was forced to take strong purgatives all the time. It is no wonder that rheumatism gave me misery, my whole system was in such a run down, toxic condition. My sleep was restless and I was to the point where I didn't know what to do. I was losing weight and strength so rapidly."

"From the time I took the first few doses of Sargon I could begin to see a change in my condition. My appetite picked up and it seemed like I couldn't get enough to eat. Everything agrees with me and I don't have those bloating pains any more. Sargon toned up my liver, the constipation regulated me perfectly. The poisons were driven from my system and rheumatism left me for good. I sleep soundly and get up feeling rested and refreshed. Sargon has built me up five pounds in weight and given me new life and strength."

"I am so glad that I learned about Sargon and only hope that my experience will cause others to try this marvelous, health-giving medicine."

The above statement was made recently by Mrs. Mary Wise, highly esteemed resident of 1511 Langston St., S. W.

Many similar experiences have been reported to the special representative of the Sargon Laboratories who is stationed at Jacobs' Main Store, 6-8 Marietta street, for the purpose of giving those interested full information about this remarkable new scientifically developed formula. He will be glad to answer any questions about Sargon or Sargon Soft Mass Pills, and is being daily consulted by hundreds. Sargon may also be obtained from Jacob Drug Stores throughout Atlanta.—(A.P.)

Mortician, Called To Prepare Body, Revives Dead Boy

Manistee, Mich., April 23.—(AP)—An undertaker called to take charge of the body of a youth pronounced dead this morning turned physician this afternoon when he detected signs of life and revived the boy while mourners sat in an adjoining room. The youth, Leo Rakowski, 22, was injured yesterday by a runaway team of horses. A physician summoned after the undertaker's first-aid efforts said Rakowski probably would recover.

Santa Clara, Cuba, April 23.—(AP)—Certified as dead from heart failure, and on the point of being embalmed, Jose Martinez Mejia rose from a 10-hour "death" last night.

Mejia became unconscious late Sunday night and efforts to revive him failed. Towards morning doctors declared his heart had stopped beating. He was removed to an undertaking establishment where, while attendants were preparing the body for embalming, the "dead" man's hand was seen to stir and almost immediately afterward Mejia rose to his feet as if he had just awakened.

WHITEHALL WIDENING IS ASKED OF COUNCIL

Development of Candler Field Requires Road to It Be Improved.

Declaring that future utility and development of Candler field as the foremost airport of the southeast is dependent on making it accessible by widening and repaving of Whitehall street, Mrs. Manson Wilson, a pioneer citizen of Atlanta, Tuesday called on members of city council to institute a progressive reclamation program designed to make the thoroughfare one of the most alluring in the south's Gate City.

Mrs. Wilson directed a letter to C. D. Knight, president of the Atlanta Improvement Association, pointing out that unless the city government takes steps to widen the street and to facilitate the flow of traffic in that area, Candler field will die of "strangulation."

"Whitehall is one of the traditional streets of Atlanta, and deserves special attention if for no other reason," she stated. "It was named from the famous old Whitehall house fronting the Georgia railroad and visitors from all parts of the country going to Florida are forced to traverse it because it is a link in the state highway."

Such Delicious Flavor

Everybody agrees there is no better ginger ale

The materials used in Cascade ginger ale costs equally as much as those employed in the manufacture of the higher priced brands.

The formula is composed of Jamaica ginger, blended with the flavoring properties of citrus fruits and made with club soda of the required standard for perfect carbonization.

It is the unanimous opinion of all who have tried Cascade that it is equal in every respect to any ginger ale on the market, regardless of price. The quality is superb, the flavor is delicious, the blend is perfect.

Cascade
GINGER ALE
Pale Dry ALE 5¢

Because it is only a nickel a bottle when other brands sell for much higher prices, is no reason to suspect that it is lacking in any constituent which makes for quality. The difference in cost is in the manner of distribution.

Cascade Ginger Ale is put up in 7-ounce green bottles, under the most perfect methods of sanitation. It is distributed through grocers, druggists, delicatessens—wherever carbonated beverages are sold—in the 6-bottle "hospitality carton, for 30 cents, or in single bottles at soda fountains and all other drink stands, for 5 cents.

The small deposit required for the bottles is refunded when the empties are returned—just as most other beverages are sold, including milk. And right there is where the major difference in cost is eliminated when you purchase Cascade.

You do not pay for the bottles, labels, tin foil and long distance freight charges when you purchase Cascade. You pay only for that which you actually drink.

Army and Navy Sign Gridiron Peace Pact

SERVICE TEAMS PLAY IN 1931, REPORT SAYS

Game Would Be Played As Part of World Fair in Chicago.

Chicago, April 23.—(AP)—Rumors that Army-Navy football relations had been patched up reached Chicago today, with an indication that the service eleven might play at Soldier field in 1931 as a part of the World's Fair celebration.

No definite information concerning the plan could be obtained but it was said that a contract for use of the field was in the hands of the South Park board ready to be signed. Edward J. Kelly, president of the board which has control of the field, was in Washington.

Efforts to get in touch with him were unavailing.

Officials of the Army and Navy academies said they "knew nothing" of the reports calling for a resumption of gridiron relations.

The Army and Navy played at Soldier field in 1928, the battle resulting in a 21-to-21 tie, with more than 120,000 in the stands to view the struggle. They met again in 1927, after which the break in relations developed.

Nothing Known At Annapolis.

Annapolis, Md., April 23.—(AP)—No body connected with the United States Naval academy knows of any plan for resumption of Army-Navy football games at Chicago in 1931, Lieutenant Commander A. H. Rooks, aid to Rear Admiral S. S. Robinson, superintendent of the academy, said today. The statement was made in connection with the report from Chicago that a contract for the use of the stadium had been prepared.

New York Says "Maybe."

New York, April 23.—(AP)—Although opinion is general here that steps have been taken to heal the breach between the football forces of Army and Navy, "highest authorities" at West Point gave little encouragement today to the latest rumor of reconciliation.

"There is nothing to it whatever," a spokesman said. "We have no quarrel with the Navy and no hatchet to bury. If the Navy wants to play football with us it knows the steps to be taken."

PAUL SIMPSON CROWDS LEADERS

North Carolina Runner Holds Fifth Place in Bunions Derby.

Collinsville, Ill., April 23.—(AP)—Leading the plodding pilgrims of C. C. Pyle into Collinsville, Ill., their twenty-fourth contest point today, Johnny Sals, Penna., N. J., legionnaire and policeman, firmly established himself in second position and slightly out the lead of Pete Gavuzzi, of Southampton, England, leader in elapsed time.

Salo ran the gruelling course between Vandellie, 30.8 miles, in the remarkable time of 8:12:50. He held the lead from the start although Paul Simpson, of Burlington, N. C., threatened to overtake him in the final 30 miles.

Simpson was second in 8:18:55, moving into fifth position as the result of his run. Ed Gardner, Seattle, (Wash.) negro, third in elapsed time, finished in 8:20:00. Gavuzzi was fourth, Philip Granville, of Hamilton, Ont., fifth; Sam Richmond, New York, sixth, and Pat Harrison, of Sullivan, Mo., seventh.

The pavement runners were favored by ideal weather conditions. Harry Ren, of Long Beach, Calif., collapsed 10 miles out of Vandellie, when both arches gave way. His forced withdrawal reduces the field to 28.

The runners completed their first 1,000 miles today, having run 1,030.2 miles March 31.

Simpson elapsed time now is 179:36:28.

Virginia Accepts Brown Resignation

Charlottesville, Va., April 23.—(AP)—The executive board of the Athletic Association of the University of Virginia today announced that it had accepted the resignation of David Ellis Brown, baseball manager of athletics at the institution since 1922.

Mr. Brown plans to go into private business, with headquarters in Charlottesville.

His resignation is effective next month, at the end of seven years service, but the executive board has requested that he remain in office during the summer until a successor can be selected.

English Pro Denies Dissension on Team

Moorfoot, England, April 23.—(AP)—Hard, dry fairways gave golf balls a mighty roll today and some great distances were made by American and British golfers practicing for the Ryder cup matches Friday and Saturday.

Joe Turnesa, with a 67, led the pros from overseas while a 69 by Fred Robson was the best card returned by the home players. Walter Hagen went around in 71, while Gene Sarazen and Al Watrous took 72.

John Golden and Leo Diegel defeated Horton Smith and Al Espinosa one up in an exciting foursome, decided on the home green.

The opposing captains, Hagen and George Lunn, went into a prolonged conference today. The Scot had the arrangements of his forces in hand, but Hagen announced that he wished to see his men in foursome play tomorrow before making a final choice.

Duncan today emphatically denied reports of dissension among his men centering about Compton's failure to practice with his teammates. The big British pro yesterday played a round with Hagen.

"It's nonsense," said the British captain. "Archie isn't a mixer. We don't have rigid discipline for we are not a boat race crew. Compton will be on hand Friday and win his match."

Previously Duncan had said in regard to Compton and Hagen, "fraternizing on the fairways is a harmless thing. Archie playing with Hagen as long as he beats him."

The Americans will practice again tomorrow and Thursday, abandoning a plan to visit Muirfield where the British open will be played.

JACKETS PLAY 'BAMA TODAY

Georgia Tech's Yellow Jackets will swing into action again this afternoon when they take on the Tide men of Alabama in the first of a four-game series. The first pair will be played at the Flats today and Thursday, with the second pair on Friday and Saturday.

Wayward Boye Boswelled by Ed Danforth

As an extra added attraction to "Manon," the opera for Wednesday night, Wayward Boye, the Marquis of Macon, will play a harp-monica obligato when Gigi and Boris sing "Non, votre liberte ne sera pas ravie" (Mona, You Shall Be Free) in the first act. Wayward, by the way, has rewritten the opera diverging somewhat from the original structure of the composer to eliminate some of the more immoral features. The revised argument follows:

MANON (Not a Railroad)

This opera, in four acts, depicts life in Hollywood, and was written by Jules S. Massengale following his visit to Pickfair as winner of the Constitution's contest. Since Manon, with Marie Prevost in the title role, scored such a smashing success in the Opera Comique at Paris, several other composers have stolen the idea and foisted what purports to be the same story. One of the most infamous steals of this sort is an opera called "Manon Let's Go."

Giacomo Puccini was accused of uttering this plagiarism, but he was the one who wrote "La Rondine" and thus has an alibi.

ACT ONE.

Manon, a petite blond from Tilton, sent by her parents to the Terminal station at Atlanta she meets Charley the Greek and is overcome by his spit curls. In a tenuous duet, "Et je sais votre nom" ("Ain't I Met You Somewhere, Girlie?"), they decide to run over to Tybee for the week-end.

ACT TWO.

Manon has graduated. She and Charley have a suite in a downtown hotel and are delivering small orders to customers in office building. Business is thriving—in a small way, of course—and nobody is interfering with them. Charley, however, gets to drinking up the stock and finally ashamed of himself decides to quit. It affects his nerves and he sings "Le Reve" (D. T.). Meanwhile a gang boss, Dee Brennan, tells Manon of the broader field in Chicago and Manon decides to take post-graduate work. They frame Charley and he is arrested.

ACT THREE.

Circus day in Chicago. Brennan refuses to take Manon. The noon whistle blows; it is Manon singing "Oubliions quand leur" (I'm Wild About Animal Crackers). Late that afternoon Manon hears that Charley freed from the chainlink has gone to preaching. She determines to save him.

Manon finds Charley preaching on the corner of State and Washington. She sings "N'est-ce plus ma main?" (Oh, What a Man). Charley takes up a collection and they disappear up the L stairway.

ACT FOUR.

Charley and Manon are in Miami. Charley is playing roulette feverishly in a South Beach gambling joint while Manon is flirting with the faro dealer. Both are arrested in a raid.

ACT FIVE.

Charley is freed in police court next morning for lack of evidence, but Manon, poisoned on a South Beach frankfurter, dies on the causeway as she was on her way to catch a steamer for Havana to see the races. Funeral arrangements to be announced later. Charley enlists in the bodyguard of Scarface Al Capone and still is holding his job.

Profit-sharing time has come for caddies. Here is a gang of them at Piedmont park ready to suffer for 50 cents. From left to right these lads are called "Louis" Bassett, Edwin "Lefty" Burgess, Clenton Clay, LaMar "Scar" Scarbrough, Wilkie "Will" Rackley, Edward "Snooks" Mote, Olen "Sleepy" Owens, Claud "Pro" Feather, I. W. "Gee Whiz" Smith. The gentleman doing the directing at the right is Raymond McLemore, caddy master. He knows how to tell them. This is a lecture on how to hunt the lost balls in the tall and uncult.

Caddies Display Golfing Form At Piedmont Park

By Dick Hawkins.

"And caddy fare!"

Whatever the golf game may be, whether for balls or drinks or just for fun, there's always Shylock Caddy for his pound of flesh. They are necessary evils. Their profit-sharing season is at hand.

The picture above shows just a few of the lads at Piedmont park who carry golf bags and chase balls for the customers and consume hot dogs and soda pop for themselves. The caddies are an abused lot, but they don't mind. When some bimbo heels a ball into the tall and uncult and the caddy fails to find it in less than 10 seconds, the cloud of profanity bursts in sudden shower.

Suppose the caddies would say just what they think when some duffer lays down the profanity barrage over a lost ball out in the big timber where no ball has any business to be? It might sound something like this:

"Why, you run-down heel! You couldn't shoot golf with a scatter gun loaded with bird shot. If I found golf balls like you hit 'em, you couldn't buy enough balls with a year's salary to play one hole on a practice putting green. Why don't you get back in the new-mown hay of the fairway?"

But the caddies don't talk that way (at least in ear shot). They plot from one rough to the other and take their four bits thankfully when the golfer is over.

The lot of the caddy might not be so difficult if he didn't know anything about the game of golf, but if you think these lads can't play golf you are thoroughly mistaken. Many of them figure their round is a total loss if they don't shoot the course in a very few strokes over par.

There's Claud Feather, for example. He is known as "The Pro" by the other caddies, because he can give most of them lessons in playing the royal and ancient game. "Pro" admits he is good. The other caddies admit he is good. Billy Wilson, the real pro at Piedmont, admits "Pro" is good, so he must be. Yet he must stand at the tee and watch you and me plump our shots into the tall timber without a smile.

If anybody in this world has four bits' worth of grief every time he goes to work, it's the lad they talk about when they say: "And caddy fare."

Montreal After Dempsey To Promote in Canada

Montreal, April 23.—(AP)—The Montreal Herald says today that Jack Dempsey, former world's champion, now promoter of fight events in association with Humbert Fugazy, is in Montreal the coming summer.

"Dempsey has been invited to the baseball opening next week," states the Herald, "with the idea that the visit will give him a chance to cast an eye over the boxing possibilities in Montreal. As a matter of fact, there have been some informal negotiations between the baseball club and Dempsey with a view to the latter setting up one of the big heavyweight bouts in Montreal the coming summer."

WADE DRIVES WINNING RUN ACROSS PLATE

Atlanta's Fighting Spirit
Squares Mobile Series.
Archdeacon Scores.

By Ed Danforth.

Down in the lengthening shadows of the tenth inning yesterday, the Crackers crashed through the desperate dogged defense of the Mobile Bears and scored a 4-to-3 victory to square the inaugural series.

It was just another of those furious finishes such as seem to be a habit with Wilbur Good's men these days. Day after day they have kept knocking away prizes at an apparently superior team and often they have forced the enemy to crack.

This time they tied the score in the eighth and charged through head down in the first extra period. This is how it was done:

Maury Archdeacon, soft like a streak from the plate beat out his own infield roller and became the first runner to break the tie. Jack Sheehan dumped one in the dirt and Maury streaked for second on the sacrifice. Max Rosenfeld boosted a Texas leaguer into an apparently superior team and often they have forced the enemy to crack.

WADE DOES IT.

Frank Haley, waving his bat menacingly, was passed to first. Then Dick Wade taking a lazy swing lifted high fly to right field and Archdeacon scooped home with a short game on his back before Claybaugh could whip it home.

It was a fan-finish, that long, bitter battle. The Crackers for seven innings had battered vainly on the twisting curve ball of Ernie Kook's. The old St. Louis pitcher was canny and his arm was like a victory with. Dick Bonnelly was flinging a pretty good ball and the Crackers were on the home side. He was wild and eternally in a hole, yet he courageously grappled with his own temporary weakness and stuck in there.

The Crackers trailing, 2 to 3, were one down in the eighth when Max Rosenfeld belted a clean one to center. Rosy lit out for second, while Haley was batting; Joe Makey hurried a peg to right field and the ball flew into centerfield. This gave Rosenfeld gangway to third and Haley drove him home with a short single.

QUEER TACTICS.

That trying run in its final analysis did not make Kook look so bad. Yet with the score tied and none on base, Manager Hulsitt elected to go for a pinch hitter. The second guesser could see nothing smart in that. For Andrews, the red fireballer, in cold and could not halt the plunging Crackers.

"Dutch," Hoffman, old stolid game. Hoffman, lately united with the Bears, was positively humiliated by what he seemed the wizardry of Bonnelly's pitching. Bonnelly fanned four men and the Crackers were "Dutch." The once mighty pitcher who shelled the right field back at Spiller's when he wore a Pelican in Bear regalia. Three times he was called out without taking a hit and the Crackers were down.

Bonnelly made sport of Hoffman. The Bears got one on in the eighth, two down. Bonnelly took the sign from Wilbur Good and purposely passed Claybaugh to pick on "Dutch." That was one of the times he fanned. The bugs were crawling on him.

Then in the tenth, with the score knotted the same situation developed; Claybaugh again was passed.

HARMLESS NOW.

"Two on, Hoffman at bat" would have been a situation that would have chilled the bleachers in other days. This time they whooped with glee. Hoffman lightened his belt, spat on his hands, pounded the plate fiercely while the audience laughed rudely. He was hot and mad. He watched two strikes aimed over the plate, the same high curve ball. Then he hauled off and cut at one.

The result was a boyish bonder to second base. Sheehan, yawning, collected it and tossed him out. Do not imagine from the fact that the next play was a sacrifice fly that he seemed spry enough down around the bag with fine fences to his credit. Bonnelly simply had the sign on the old timer.

Both teams played the old one-run-at-a-time game. Pretty good baseball, that sort.

Expert and Sisko raked the Crackers' keystone pair with some fancy place hitting in the fifth and got a Prep baseball teams swung into the closing half of the 1929 pennant chase Tuesday afternoon with the leaders coming through with flying colors in most cases. Four games were played.

Tuesday's results follow:
T. H. S. 15; East Point 10.
U. S. B. 4; Marist 3.
B. H. S. 11; Fulton 5.
G. M. A. 16; Deatur 1.

The Cadets of G. M. A. have been idle for the past couple of weeks but got back into action Tuesday afternoon against Deatur. By defeating Deatur, the Cadets moved up to sixth place after keeping the collar for some time. Boys' High is in a tie with Fulton as a result of its victory. The Smithies added to their total by taking East Point.

Tech High Wins Over Pointers, 15-10.

East Point established a four-run lead in the first inning against Tech High but this did not last long as the Smithies rallied and chalked up four counters to tie the score. From then until the eighth frame the Pointers were scoreless. In this frame they scored six runs to run their total to 10.

The Smithies' big inning was the second when they put over six runs. They crossed the plate twice in the third and three in the fifth. Mott and Brown were the stars of the game at bat, each driving over three hits out of five tries, including the big gun. Mott hit a double, Whitley and Mable managed to get two hits each off East Point twirler, who gave up a total of 14. Errors by the East Point team helped swell the Tech High score.

Marist Loses Close Game, 8-3.

With Holt facing Tucker on the hill, Marist lost a close game to U. S. B. 8-3. Not only was the big gun of the Bluebird offensive, getting three hits out of four times at bat. His playing in the field was also good. Van Houten, Marist center fielder, was the best player for his team, getting two hits, the same as Downing, his teammate on second base. Holt and McDonough batted for the Cadets.

Cadets Win First Game.

The Cadets of the Georgia Military academy came back yesterday for their first victory of the season, defeating Deatur High, 16-1. They scored in every inning except the fifth and allowed Deatur only one tally, that in the first inning. Clark, G. M. A. pitcher, struck out 12 men and gave up only two hits. Gardner, the Deatur hurler, had a bad day, and allowed 16 hits. Pittman, of G. M. A., had a good day at the plate, getting three hits out of three times at bat, a homer, a triple and a single.

Purple Swamps Fulton, 11-5.

Boys' High defeated Fulton High on its own field. The score was 11-5. Melvin, pitching for Boys' High, had little trouble with the opposition, as they fell rapidly before his fast delivery. King, Fulton pitcher, had a hard time holding the Boys' High boys to 14 hits and three walks.

Traded.

Curly Ogden, brother of Jack of the Browns, has been with the Athletics, Senators and Giants in a few short years. The Giants recently returned him to Buffalo and he was traded to Toledo.

run out of it. Eggert caught Sheehan dashing over to cover second and pushed one carefully over Jack's recent site to score Duris. Susko followed by poking one through short, when Jones hustled over to protect second.

Max Rosenfeld shut off a run when he made a galloping catch of Susko's liner in deep left and pegged perfectly back to Haley to catch Eggert.

This Elmer Eggert was the most industrious Bear in the lot yesterday. He was eternally on base and handled six chances from his corner. He is an old fashioned hustler.

Ivy Paul Andrews, the big right hander, got back just in time from the Cotton States league to be charged with the loss of a ball game, in which he pitched but one and a fraction innings.

Frank Haley came within an inch of driving in the winning run in the tenth when his squeeze bunt rolled foul. Archdeacon was already over the plate.

They managed to steal a base, so to speak, on Al Lopez. Eggert was on third, as usual, and when Claybaugh was deadheaded to first and when he hustled down to second, Al faked a peg and held the ball. That goes as a technical stolen base, one might say.

Charley Dufour, New Orleans sports writer, is here several days in advance of the Pelicans, attending opera.

Beaten Out.

Billy Kelly, who hit 44 home runs in one season, was beaten out of the first base job this spring by Jordan, a rookie, at Buffalo.

The Giants last fall bought Herb Thomas to send to Toledo and now Buffalo has traded Curly Ogden to get Thomas back.

SPORTLIGHT

Time comes winging, whispering: "What about the years?" What about the darkness as the coming sunset nears? To which I have one answer, where all I have to say is "Never mind about the years—what about today?"

Time comes winging, whispering: "How the years go by! What about the twilight where the shadows hide the sky?" Yes, the mist is gathering—Time is on the way. But never mind about the years—what about today?

A good many years ago Ty Cobb was talking about the barrier a ball club faced that had won three pennants in a row. "After that," he said, "it is almost impossible to keep up the old spirit. It is an old story. Winning another pennant is nothing but winning another pennant. You don't run after a street car when you have caught it. Mixed with that is the idea many on the team hold, that the pennant can be won, anyway, without breaking a set of backs to get there. There is a general let-down. It has happened to almost every club in the game. Sometimes it happens after two pennant winning years. Nearly always after three."

This is one handicap the Yankees face this season. It is one of the main obstacles in the road. Fortunately for their side, a fellow like Babe Ruth wouldn't be satisfied with six pennants in a row if there was a seventh in sight. Every ball game to him is a ball game to be won, if there is any way to win it. This feeling is sure to get to others of the club.

But for all that, constant winning brings about certain weaknesses, whether it be for an individual or for a team. Add to this the wear and tear upon certain veterans who have been around a long time. There is no way of telling just what year they will suddenly slip and fall back. The Yankees are again generally picked to win another pennant, but the quoted odds of 9 to 10 against the field are out of line.

ONE FORM OF SPRING FOOTBALL PRACTICE. It may be impossible or at least difficult to hold formal spring practice for football. Conditions may be against it. Certain institutions may decide it is over-emphasizing the game. But there is one procedure a head coach might work on:

1—To persuade his two best kickers to take an hour two or three times a week practicing punting and drop kicking.

2—To get his two best passers and his two best pass receivers to take the same time, or as much time as possible, developing this feature of football.

3—To get his linemen to take 15 minutes a day practicing quick starting. That isn't over-emphasizing anything and the results might be somewhat astonishing.

In the first two cases there is no chance to develop good kickers and passers in the brief fall season. The same thing goes for pass receivers. It is fine exercise and interesting work—to any one who likes football.

Main line value lies in the charge and quick starting during the first 10 or 15 feet. This is something else that can't be developed in a few weeks. All of this would take but little time from other work and could in no way be called "over-emphasis." After all, if one is to play football there is no crime in wishing to play it as well as possible.

If it is over-emphasizing a game to take enough time to learn the fundamentals, then the game should be abolished.

It might be argued that sport is sport and that it is not important to be proficient in any game. Not at the expense of other more important things. But the above philosophy is usually held by those who can't be proficient.

BOSTON CLUB TRIAL DELAYED

Club Officials Out of Town, Postponement Is Asked.

Boston, April 23.—(AP)—Trial of the Boston National League baseball club and Orin J. Brisse, of Brooklyn, on charges of violating the corrupt practices act, was postponed until May 14 in municipal court today. Counsel for the ball club asked for the continuance because club officials were attending the opening game in Brooklyn today.

The defendants were charged with law violations by Attorney-General Joseph E. Warner after his office had investigated the activities of the Out-door Recreation league in behalf of the recently adopted Sunday sports law in this state. Brisse was secretary of the league and was alleged to have filed with the secretary of state a list of contributors to a league fund raised to support the Sunday sports campaign.

The investigation by Attorney-General Warner followed statements made during a probe of Boston city council activities by the Boston finance commission, to the effect that the list filed by Brisse was false and that the baseball club had actually supplied the funds.

starting time set at 4 o'clock, while the series will be completed at the Capstone on Friday and Saturday afternoons.

The Jackets displayed plenty of power in their last games, in which Auburn's Tigers were subdued by 12-7 and 8-3 counts. Good pitching was backed by snappy fielding, and the Jackets used up five Tiger hurlers in the three games and gained a measure of revenge for the double loss sustained at Auburn two weeks ago.

Clay has worked his charges hard in the two sessions permitted between games, sending them through intensive hitting practices as the feature and adding strong doses of fielding work. The Jackets have looked good in the two victories.

Aubrey Hobbs seems to have become an infield fixture at third, as he has held down this post with all the others of the starting lineup in the drills. This new combination has shown plenty of speed in the practices, and should prove deadly to opposing teams.

Clay's mound staff, which has vacillated between the extremes of good and bad, was on top in both of the last two games. This was demonstrated by the fact that the Jackets let down this week.

It is expected that either Quinn or Little will be on the hill this afternoon.

MAY 4 RACES AT LAKEWOOD ARE OKAYED

Six Events Planned. Leading Racers To Compete on Track Here.

Having obtained sanction of the Southeastern Racing Association which will officially open Lakewood Park for the summer on May 4, Wayman Boyles, promoter of the meet, is going forward with plans to give Atlanta one of the best racing meets staged here.

Entry blanks will be mailed out to the leading riders in the south as well as some nationally known men who have raced here before and it is expected that an impressive list of names will be on the program when the opening race begins.

Five events and a novelty race were sanctioned by the track association Tuesday. These events will be over the one, three, five, seven and ten mile routes. The novelty race has not been arranged yet. Two dates, May 4 and 11, were held open for the meet but after inspection of the Lakewood oval racing officials gave their okay for the fourth day of May as the day for the meet. Workmen have been busy for several days preparing the track for the races and much progress has been made. A fast track is the prediction for the meet.

As this is the first meet of the season here Boyles will make every effort to present fans with one of the best and most thrilling racing cards he has ever staged here. Fast motorists will be entered and will be ridden by outstanding trackmen.

BUNION DERBY BIZARRE RACE

the credit go, has had a finger in almost every large promotion venture outside the cauliflower business. The bunion derby promotion is another of those purely American phenomena. The sideshow of freaks that puts its tent in each point of control, to which the runners are pointing each night, is part and parcel of it.

The bunion derby men have been on the way less than a thousand miles to date. The great pity is that Mr. Pyle's name has come to mean a synonym for the land. He is usually followed by a small army of process servers and his belongings are constantly being plastered with attachment notices.

FORGET RUNNERS. There is so much written about Mr. Pyle and his alleged transgressions that the runners are lost sight of. Mr. Pyle even stole the show when the serious minds examined the runners at the conclusion of the 1928 race to see what ill-effects, if any, had been suffered none, so they said, Mr. Pyle was a fair and warm man and warily being plastered with attachment notices.

It was found that Mr. Pyle, who had been stopping at the rural hotels along the route, was suffering from a bunion. Those who were not on Mr. Pyle's list, those who were not in some of the rural hotels, were very unyielding. The men make a certain distance each night, run from one town to another that puts down a guarantee, to the other. They even run out of the way to avoid some cities which are not sympathetic to the bunion derby. From around 30 miles to as much as 75 miles per day.

Amazing Spectacle. The bunion derby is really offering up an athletic spectacle that is amazing in its stark reality. The marathon race in the Olympic games and those held at various cities in this country, are run in something more than two hours. El Quini won that race in the Olympic games at Amsterdam last summer, made the 26 miles in 2 hours, 32 minutes and 57 seconds.

That event, for which men train systematically for years, leaves the finishers exhausted and worn. The bunion derby entries run more than 30 miles every day. They average around 40. They cover 40 miles in about five hours, sometimes less. They do that day in and day out, in all sorts of weather, under varying conditions, up hill and down. Their comfort receives scant consideration. They furnish it themselves. Most of them are backed by some advertising firm. They run into the night and leave at dawn. Most of the contestants are men who never trained for distance running.

There is a lot of laughter as C. C. Pyle's mad caravan moves on. It is ridiculous and bizarre but with it all there are men running about 40 miles per day, rain or shine, warm or cold. And, incidentally, making good time.

Ridiculous Bizarre—And Here. There is a lot of immoderate and coarse laughter when the bunion derby is mentioned but somehow I don't see how one is to forget that yesterday some men ran about 40 miles will do it again today and start out again tomorrow and continue in the fashion until they reach the Pacific coast.

Of course it is very hard on Mr. Pyle. He has to ride in an automobile all day and that does get so tiresome. And then there are the small hotels and their beds. It is very hard on Mr. Pyle. His mad runners have nice, smooth concrete to run on.

New Hockey Loop May Be Formed Chicago, April 23.—(AP)—Rumblings of a "hockey war" grew louder today. Announcement by Major Frederic McLaughlin that his Chicago Blackhawks will continue to play in the Coliseum instead of the new Chicago stadium opened a new flood of apparently reliable reports that Paddy Harmon, president of the stadium, would combine with other realtors and form a hockey circuit opposed to the national league.

Harmon, backed by several wealthy Chicago business men in the $7,000,000 stadium venture, has said he would insist on major league hockey being played next winter in his Sports Palace.

Shillinger, Macnamara and Bullington will help Shields in the attempt to retain the crown. All of the invading teams are reputed to be very good, especially the Cadet crew from G. M. A.

New Grid Rules Need Seasoning

Trumbull Says New Fumble Rule Should Not Be Enforced for Another Year.

By Walter Trumbull. New York, April 23.—Sydney E. Hutchinson, chairman of the football committee at Pennsylvania, asserts that public reaction to the change in the rules, making it illegal for a player on the defending side to run with a fumbled ball, has been unfavorable. He proposes that the application of this rule be suspended for a year.

Mr. Hutchinson seems to believe that the time has come when the rule makers experimenting with the game and intimates that if they once permitted a season to pass without making some radical change everybody else would be just as well satisfied.

He also thinks that any important changes in the rules should be effective not less than a year after they have been put on the books, thus giving them opportunity to season and be discussed, and also that they should be approved by a ratifying authority, such as the National Collegiate Association.

RESULT OF ORATORY. In all except this last, I am in perfect agreement. Any time you attempt to handle rules by a committee which is obliged to report back to the association, the result is the development, not of a game, but of a bunch of orators. It would take over a year before everybody had delivered himself of the sentiments he felt to be important.

Regarding the no fumble rule, I always have felt it to be bad. One reason, if no other, is that it is a wide open invitation to dishonesty. There should be no rule which absolutely invites sharp practice. You may say that there should be no coach or team capable of sharp practice. That also is true, but since Adam took his first bite of the apple, mortal man has been subject to temptation and it isn't common sense to throw it in his way just to see if he is immune.

There might among coaches and teams be some unregenerate enough to figure that while the man who took advantage of an unintentional opening in the rules was no sportsman, the man who did not was a sap. In a tight corner, one of these might take a chance on a fumble, increase the legal number of downs, with little risk.

DISTRUST. Or, if he did not, if he were strictly honorable, and an unintentional fumble, followed by a recovery, should occur to his great advantage, his opponent might have such a small and mean mind that into it a doubt would creep. This would not make for trust and perfect understanding.

The old grade would have no doubts. An old grad always is liberal. He never suspects the opposing coach and manager of anything more than larceny, mayhem, perjury and murder. He always is fair and warmer, year by year, than the new grad, and more in his indignation. This rule may be a great thing for him.

I still believe that the rule was the idea of coaches who, for reasonably sound reasons, of course, did not wish to see power plus good instruction overcome by a fluke. They will recover the majority of fumbles. It may be so. But, if it is so, what if it? In that case only the size of the score, not the result of the game, is affected.

But it happens that there have been several cases where the thing didn't work out in this manner, where a weaker eleven, by virtue of a break, an accident if you choose, by scooping up a loose ball, has beaten a stronger one of the very same rule should prevent, and I believe that those who fostered it intended it to do that very thing.

GAME TOO SERIOUS. I also have the feeling that football is tending to become a little too serious, a coach's profession and a bit too little an amateur's pastime. It is my earnest contention that college football is an undergraduate game and that the undergraduates are, in theory, supposed to play it for fun. Under these circumstances, I believe that they should have more to say about it.

At the present time it is run almost wholly by graduates. The undergraduates have nothing to say concerning the schedule, the rules, the profits, the fields, the spectators or the teams. All he does is play, how, and where he is told and generally yanked out in virtual disgrace if he doesn't do it right. He gets the bruises and the blame and gives his heart, soul and body. And the boys who do most of the work, generally get least of the glory.

The rules committee is a wise, conscientious and able body. I could suggest only one change. They might put an undergraduate on it.

Berlenbach Still Knows the Game

Paul Berlenbach, former lightweight boxing champion, had proved to the world that he still knows quite a bit about wrestling, his favorite sport, when he toppled Pat McKay in straight falls last week at Springfield, Mass. After going bad in the boxing game, "Oom Paul" returned to the mat game. He held the amateur championship for the middleweight class several years ago.

Mrs. Granade has a handicap of 15 strokes which gave her a total of 33 strokes. Carrying the flag to the third green of the second round, in 33 strokes is shooting excellent. That means the 18 holes in about 90 or slightly more. Mrs. Wright's handicap was 25 so she had a total of 103 strokes to reach the first green on the additional round. That is well under 100 for the first 18 holes. Mrs. Clower's handicap was 30 strokes.

LONG SHOT JOHN. You don't pay off on the drive. If that were true, however, John Willis would be champion of everything. John winds up and hits a golf ball with a wooden club like nobody's affair at all.

Playing with Julius Hughes against John and W. G. Burckel at Druid Hills, I watched John with bulging eyes and confessed to me just why I can't play golf and his statement applies to all the rest of us who think a great game and shoot just a fair one. "You don't practice enough," Jack vouchsafed. "You can't name a golfer who shoots any golf that doesn't practice nearly as much as he plays. If he doesn't now he did when he was getting to the top of his game."

Not satisfied with the statement, Jack offered it further proof. "When you miss a shot and drop another ball for a practice shot what do you do?" he asked, then answered, "You practice." "You hit the practice shot well nearly every time. Why? Because you know how to make the shot, but haven't practiced enough to make the process mechanical. You've got to get to the point where you make a shot without conscious thought before you can play good golf. Simple isn't it?"

TRUST CO. OF GEORGIA WINS BIG TAX REFUND

U. S. Sends Back $259,097 Excess on Profit Made on Coca-Cola.

Georgia's largest tax refund from the federal government was announced Tuesday by the internal revenue department when it was decided that $259,097 collected from the Trust Company of Georgia several years ago was illegally held.

The department ordered the refund made immediately.

When the government assessed the company for a large number of Coca-Cola company shares which it acquired at $5 a share the company demurred, but paid the assessment. The matter then was taken into the federal courts, where Judge Samuel H. Sibley, of the northern district of Georgia, rendered a decision in favor of the plaintiff company. The government appealed the decision to the circuit court of appeals and lost the decision there. It then was decided to pay the refund without an appeal to the United States supreme court.

Government officials contended that although the company bought the stock at $5 a share the market price was $40 and that the firm was to be taxed on a $40 basis although the stock was not sold. This formed the issue of the case.

Anderson, Rountree & Crenshaw, Granger Hansell and Colquitt & Conyers represented the complaining company.

Washington, April 23.—(AP)—Seven tax refunds, the first made under the executive order of President Hoover making public refunds of $20,000,000 or more were announced by the internal revenue bureau today, the largest being a refund of $4,035,530 to the estate of William Waldorf Astor, due to a decision in a United States circuit court of appeals in favor of the taxpayer.

YOUTH GETS TWO YEARS IN PRISON FOR GROCERY RAID

Willie Glenn Spriggins, 18, Tuesday was sentenced to serve from two to three years at the state prison farm for robbing an East Point grocery, despite the plea of relatives that his mind was affected as the result of a severe electrical shock he received when 8 years old. Spriggins was sentenced when he entered a plea of guilty Tuesday before Superior Judge Edgar E. Pomeroy.

The youth's relatives told the judge of the alleged shock in order to obtain a mitigated sentence, they said. According to their statements, they said more than 1,500 volts of electricity passed through the boy's body. They seemed pleased when Judge Pomeroy ordered a minimum sentence of two years.

HAMILTON ATTACK CASE NEARING JURY

Arguments in the trial of J. L. Hamilton, 31-year-old factory worker and associate of the condemned Alvin E. Merritt, will be heard by the jury trying Hamilton on a charge of assault when the trial is reconvened this morning.

Hamilton, took the stand Tuesday, his unsworn statement, in which he denied the charge against him, being the only interesting bit of testimony in the day, featured by spirited clashes between Solicitor-General John A. Boykin and Len B. Gillebeau, chief of defense counsel.

The case likely will go to the jury about 2 o'clock this afternoon, there being no movement thus far to obtain longer than the usual two hours' argument for each side.

Hamilton in his brief statement said that he is 31 years old, had been employed at a motor plant for the last nine years and that on the night of the alleged attack, February 1, 1929, he was at home with his wife, mother and brother.

The state closed its case in mid-afternoon, relying chiefly on the victim of the attack, a young North Side married woman, who positively identified Hamilton as her attacker. The prosecution, anticipating that the defense might lay the crime charged to Hamilton on the condemned Merritt, brought the latter into the courtroom and asked the young woman if she was positive that her attacker was Hamilton and not Merritt. She again identified Hamilton and said she never before had seen Merritt.

Chief Deputy Solicitor-General Ed A. Stephens is assisting Mr. Boykin, while E. G. Jackson is associated with Mr. Gillebeau. The case is being tried before Superior Judge Edgar E. Pomeroy.

Verdi's Tuneful 'Aida' Attracts Society's Beautiful Members

Superb Metropolitan Cast Soars to Heights in Aida

A capacity audience at the Auditorium last evening heard a superb Metropolitan cast rise to new heights in Verdi's colorful and tuneful "Aida," with Rosa Ponselle, Joseph MacPherson, Julia Claussen and Giacomo Lauri-Volpi sharing honors in one of the most successful productions ever staged here.

In addition to the unqualified musical success of the evening, the event was marked by one of the most brilliant assemblages of society that has ever foregathered in the Auditorium. The sweeping horseshoe of boxes was ablaze with the colorful costumes worn by the feminine contingent, the list of occupants reading like a roster of the beauty and chivalry of the south. The morning and afternoon of Tuesday were featured by a whirl of social gaities, and the first swing of Conductor Serafin's baton was the signal for only a few hours' cessation of parties before Atlanta again was swept into the social whirl that marks grand opera here.

"Aida," with its tuneful arias, its gorgeous setting and stage effects, its dashing corps de ballet and its magnificent cast—was one of the outstanding performances of all opera history here, and music lovers are looking forward with anticipation to a continuance of the magnificent series of productions that the Metropolitan Company is supplying Atlanta this year.

MASSENET'S SCORE, 'MANON' TO BE SUNG THIS EVENING

Opera Visitors Honored At Round of Parties

Southern music lovers will thrill to Massenet's delightful score this evening in his incomparable work, "Manon," as sung by one of the strongest casts in the Metropolitan Company. Bringing to a brilliant close the successful New York season, the identical production, both as to cast and setting, will be presented for Atlanta's fastidious approval for the first time since 1921. Charming Lucezia Bori will assume the title role, evoking the fondest memories of those who heard her as "Manon" in former years and have formed a sentimental attachment to the lovely opera. Supported by Beniamino Gigli's incomparable tenor in the role of "Des Grieux," by Giuseppe de Luca as "Lescout" and Leon Rothier as "Count Des Grieux," the presentation cannot fail to rank among the most impressive of the entire week's repertoire and to score another triumph in the musical aggregation of the season. The brilliant young Russian baritone, George Cehanovsky, will play the part of the dashing young courtier, "De Bretigny," his stunning appearance and his rich, resonant voice having already placed him among the favorites with opera-goers in the metropolis. Completing the splendid cast will be Aida Boninelli as "Pousette," Minnie Egner as "Rosette," Angelo Boda as "Guillot," Paola Ananian as the inn keeper, Vincenzo Reschiglian and Giordano Paltrinieri as guards, Louis D'Angelo as an archer and Gino Gola as a servant. Louis Hasselmann will wield the baton in the musicians' pit. With words by Metilac and Gille, after the famous novel by Abbe Prevost, the opera is written and will be sung in French. With the scenes laid in Paris and other French cities in the time of the second empire, the settings are gay and colorful. In fact, it is a matter of noteworthy interest that a special scenic setting has been built for the production of "Manon" by the skilled hand of Joseph Urban, famous master of stagecraft, and this setting will be used intact for this evening's performance.

Social Gatherings.

Conspicuous among the social gatherings of the day is the annual, old-fashioned barbecue at which the Druid Hills Golf Club compliments the Metropolitan Opera Company, its officials and directors, the affair continuing this delightful southern custom at which the directors of the club are hosts each year. Numbers of opera visitors will be central figures in congenial groups of friends assembled for the occasion, the barbecue to be served at fresco fashion at noon on the beautiful grounds surrounding the clubhouse. Among the visitors honored will be Mrs. Henry Grady Gibson and Mrs. Leslie Correll, of Concord, N. C.; the guests of Mrs. S. R. Dull, Jr.; Mrs. R. B. Crabbs, of Cincinnati, Ohio, who is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Owen Perry; Mr. and Mrs. Edward Worcester, of St. Louis, Mo.; Mr. and Mrs. Albert Freeman and Mr. and Mrs. Fred W. Ellsworth, of New Orleans, La.; Miss Rosaline Kress, of New York, the guest of her aunt, Mrs. Joseph Moody, and Mrs. S. E. Moreton, of Brookhaven, Miss.

Following the opera, "Manon" this evening, society will assemble in the handsome Georgian ballroom of the Atlanta Biltmore, the management of the hospitable hotel entertaining in compliment to the artists of the Metropolitan Company. Mrs. R. B. Crabbs, of Cincinnati, Ohio, who is the fete opera guest of honor at the breakfast at which Mr. and Mrs. P. C. McDuffie entertain at the Piedmont Driving Club. The East Lake Country Club will be the scene of a formal dinner and reception this evening when the Alpha Kappa Psi, national professional fraternity in commerce, will entertain. At the same hour the Delta Sigma Delta dental fraternity members will assemble for their annual ball at the Druid Hills Golf Club.

Manon

Opera in Five Acts, by Jules Massenet. Book by Metilac and Gille, taken from the novel by the Abbe Prevost. First produced in Paris on January 19, 1884. American premiere in New York on December 23, 1885.

MEMORABILIA

Massenet composed a large part of "Manon," at the Hague, occupying the same room where the Abbe Prevost, author of the novel from which Manon's story is taken, had lived.

Manon is a sort of modern French version of Helen of Troy. Frail morally but so lovely and so appealing that all the world mourns her sorrows, though they are really caused by her own sins.

Massenet and his librettists didn't follow the plot of the Abbe Prevost's novel at all closely. Perhaps the greatest divergence is at the end. In the opera Manon dies at Havre, whereas in the novel she dies in Louisiana, after being transported from France in the convict ship.

It doesn't matter, however. The story is really the story of Manon and her adorable, reprehensible character. Anyway, the Abbe Prevost's ideas of Louisiana must have been of the vaguest. And all wrong. Because he places the last scene of his story on a vast desert located actually in the low, swampy regions of the then French colony.

In any event, it is an appealing, dramatic story that is revealed in the opera. It is likewise clothed in music so lovely, so exquisite that it seems to breathe the very charm of the adorable Manon herself.

The Story

ACT I.

The opening scene is in the courtyard of an inn at Amiens. As the spot for arrival and departure of the coaches, the inn courtyard is a central place for the townspeople, just as in many small places today nearly everyone frequents the railroad depot around train time.

When the opera opens there is a crowd gathered to meet the daily coach. Among them is Lescout, a member of the royal guard. He is there to meet his cousin, Manon, who is coming on the coach to enter a convent.

Lescout, who is quite a gay young sport, is delighted to find his cousin both beautiful and unsophisticated. He enjoys her greeting him with a cousinly kiss and leaves her in the courtyard while he enters the inn to engage rooms.

Manon, left alone, is approached by Guillot, a notorious old libertine. The girl is rather pleased at her ability to attract the old man, though his antics amuse her. The crowd teases the old man, but he is persistent and, before he is called away by Bretigny, his travelling companion, he orders a carriage, thinking he can later persuade this delightful young girl to run away with him.

Three girls in the crowd, evidently of easy moral tendencies, and elaborately dressed, catch Manon's eye. She envies their clothes and regrets that she is so soon to leave the world to exist behind the drab walls of a convent.

But a handsome young man enters the courtyard. He is Des Grieux. He approaches the sad young girl and they begin a conversation. They sing the famous duet, "If I Knew Your Name." Their affair progresses at lightning speed. It is love at first sight for both. Des Grieux declares that she shall not go to the dreary convent in the aria, "You Shall Remain Free."

Then the carriage ordered by Guillot drives up. The girl sees the opportunity it presents and suggests they go to Paris totual joys that await them in the gay capital.

Manon hears her cousin, Lescout, returning. She and Des Grieux jump into the carriage and drive away together.

Lescout has lost his money and, now, his cousin, too. He accuses Guillot of having spirited her away and the crowd sees a chance for fun in the quarrel. The innkeeper, however, tells Lescout the truth and the act ends as all listen to the faint sound of the hoofbeats and the rattling carriage fade away in the distance.

ACT II.

Manon and Des Grieux are in Paris. The scene is his apartment. As the curtain rises he is writing at a desk while she looks over his shoulder. He is writing his father, telling about Manon and is afraid of what the Count Des Grieux will say. "Afraid?" chides Manon, "then we'll read it together." Then comes the charming duet, "She Is Called Manon."

As Des Grieux starts to leave he notices a bouquet of flowers sent by some unknown to Manon. She answers his question evasively. The servant says two soldiers are waiting outside and as Des Grieux opens

Lescout demands satisfaction of Des Grieux for the abduction of his cousin; but Des Grieux proves his intentions are honorable by producing the letter he has written to his father. Bretigny, left with Manon, makes love to her and tells her that Des Grieux is to be forcibly carried off that night by his father. Manon knows that Bretigny is rich enough to give her all the pretty things she desires and she yields to his tempting words and agrees to go with him that night. "Off with the old love, on with the new."

After the men have all left, Manon sings "Farewell, Our Little Table."

She is crying when Des Grieux returns and he tries to comfort her, singing "The Dream." He is describing the little home he plans to buy for them when a knock comes at the door. Manon tries to prevent her lover from opening the door but he will not heed and he is seized and carried away by his father's men as she sobs in grief.

ACT III.

The scene is a street in Paris on a fete day. The crowds of merry-makers and pedestrians throng the street. Manon arrives with Bretigny and the compliments of the crowd on her beauty go to her foolish head. She is in a frivolous mood and sings and laughs. Bretigny greets an old friend who, Manon finds, is none other than the Count des Grieux, father of her erstwhile lover. The count remarks that his son is about to enter a monastery.

Manon determines to slip away and see young Des Grieux and, after some argument, persuades Lescout to take her to St. Sulpice.

The second scene of the act is the reception room at St. Sulpice. The count has arrived ahead of Manon and he is trying to dissuade his son from the notion of becoming a monk. Despite his satire, his cynicism and his pleadings, he fails and the young man returns to his own cell, after singing "Depart, Fair Vision," addressed to the imaginary face of Manon which still haunts him.

Manon enters and sends the porter to bring her old lover to her. She hears a choir singing and, always emotionally affected by her surroundings, begins praying herself.

Des Grieux at first upbraids her for her unfaithfulness, but at the same time tries to steel himself against her infinite charm. But she pleads with all the allure at her command and finally she triumphs. They leave the monastery once again together.

ACT IV.

It is a Parisian gambling house. Guillot and Lescout are among the players. Manon enters with Des Grieux.

Des Grieux is sad and morose, but Manon, chameleon-like, responds to the atmosphere of her surroundings, just as she did in the monastery, and finally persuades Des Grieux to play. He plays with Guillot for high stakes and, with Manon as his good luck mascot, wins steadily. So steadily, in fact, that Guillot at last accuses him of cheating. The old man finally storms out. Manon also wants to leave, but Des Grieux insists that if they do it will look as though the cheating change was true.

But Guillot quickly returns with the police and both Manon and Des Grieux are arrested. The Count des Grieux sees this disgrace for his son and is shocked at the quick change from the monastery of such a short time before.

ACT V.

The scene is on the high-road to Havre, the port of embarkation for prisoners sentenced to transportation to the colonies.

Des Grieux, thanks to his father's influence, has been freed from prison. Manon, however, is not so fortunate. She has been convicted as an abandoned woman and sentenced to be deported to Louisiana. Des Grieux and Lescout are waiting for the prisoners to pass, with the young lover eager to try a barehanded rescue of Manon.

When the cortege approaches, Lescout speaks with the sergeant in command, offering to buy a drink. The sergeant, in the conversation that follows, remarks that Manon, one of his prisoners, is so sick she will probably die before they reach Havre anyway.

Lescout wins permission to see and speak with his dying cousin and allows Des Grieux to take his place.

In the magnificent finale, Manon asks and receives forgiveness from Des Grieux for her ill treatment of him—the one man who had truly loved her from among the many on whom she had squandered her favors.

Manon dies in Des Grieux's arms.

Bond Almand

Will Address Women Voters

The Atlanta League of Women Voters will hear Bond Almand, of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce committee on "Registration and Voting" Friday at 3 o'clock at the chamber of commerce. Mr. Almand will be the principal speaker of the afternoon, as the meeting is planned as a general discussion of registration by the league.

The league has been asked to aid in the campaign to be put on during the week of April 29, to be known as voter enrollment week, and has as a beginning, made a canvass of its own membership through the medium of telephone committees, to urge representation in the league, to the thousands who are not already registered. The fact that registration for the county closes on May 1, and the limit for registration for the city primary is May 6, has been called to the attention of league members, both by members of the telephone committees and by postal cards sent to each member from headquarters. An urgent appeal has gone out from Mrs. Alfred Bailey, president of the league, to the thousands of her organization to register before the time limit is up. Each year the league calculates the percentage of its membership that is registered for one of the elections of that year, and the average has grown steadily since the calculations have been made, indicating that the efforts on the part of the organization to make qualified voters of its members have met with success. The general public is invited to Friday's meeting at the chamber of commerce, in addition to all league members.

CHILDREN WATCH
FATHER KILL WIFE AND SHOOT SELF

Hazen, Ark., April 23.—(P)—Byron McArthur, 30, a farmer, shot his wife to death and then went into the house, took some of his clothes off and killed himself at his farm home near here late yesterday.

Two small children of the couple were the only witnesses. A brother of McArthur found the bodies a short time later, the woman in the yard and the man on the bed.

The couple had had domestic trouble for some time, relatives said.

Using a shotgun, McArthur shot his wife first in the arm and as she ran from him, he fired another shot into her body, killing her instantly, officers said. He then went into the house, set down on the bed, reloaded the gun, and shot himself.

WHAT FARMER BROWN'S BOY SAW.
BY THORNTON W. BURGESS.

Patient watching brings to light
Many an unusual sight.
—Farmer Brown's Boy.

All the time that Honker and his flock had been making themselves at home on the pond of Paddy the Beaver by eating that good breakfast that Farmer Brown's Boy had brought them, many eyes had been watching them. Among these were the eyes of Farmer Brown's Boy himself. Honker thought that that after scattering the corn Farmer Brown's Boy had gone away. This was their mistake. He had merely hidden where he could watch them, but where they could not see him.

So when the disobedient young gander had slipped away from the rest of the flock and had gone up on shore to take a nap, hidden by some young hemlock trees growing close to the water, Farmer Brown's Boy had watched him. That foolish young goose hadn't the slightest idea that anybody had seen him. As a matter of fact, several besides Farmer Brown's Boy had seen him. Sammy Jay had seen him. So had Chatterer the Red

I notice those geese, all but one, have stayed right out in the water," thought Farmer Brown's Boy.

Squirrel, Paddy the Beaver had seen him. And there was one other who had seen him. Who that one was the silly young gander was to discover later.

"I notice those geese, all but one, have stayed right out in the water," thought Farmer Brown's Boy. "I have never seen any one so suspicious as that big leader of theirs. He is everlastingly on watch. I thought perhaps those geese would come ashore when they got through feeding, but apparently that old leader won't let them. He didn't see that one that is over behind those young hemlocks. If I know anything about it, that fellow stole away. I wonder what the old leader would do if he knew about it. That is a young bird over there and he probably hasn't learned to obey orders yet. I guess nothing will happen to him over there, however."

Wayne Brock, of Greenville, S. C., will be solemnized at high noon at the home of the bride-elect, on Ponce de Leon avenue.

Memorial trees on the Stone mountain highway will be dedicated by the Dixie Highway Road of Remembrance Association on the Stone mountain road at 3 o'clock.

MAN WHO HELD HOOVER'S HAT SUED BY HIS FIVE SONS

Tipton, Iowa, April 23.—(P)—J. W. Leeder, who held President Hoover's hat on inauguration day, has been named defendant in a suit filed in district court by his five sons, who seek to have the hat sold to their father's $500,000 estate set aside.

Mr. Leeder, it is stated, deeded his estate to Arthur Lund, attorney, as trustee for his heirs. At the same time he filed an agreement telling how he wished his estate disposed of. Dr. Grant S. Reeder, of Fremont, Neb., and four other sons living here object to the plans of their father. They contend that the attorney is given absolute authority over the property.

HIGH LIGHTS OF HISTORY

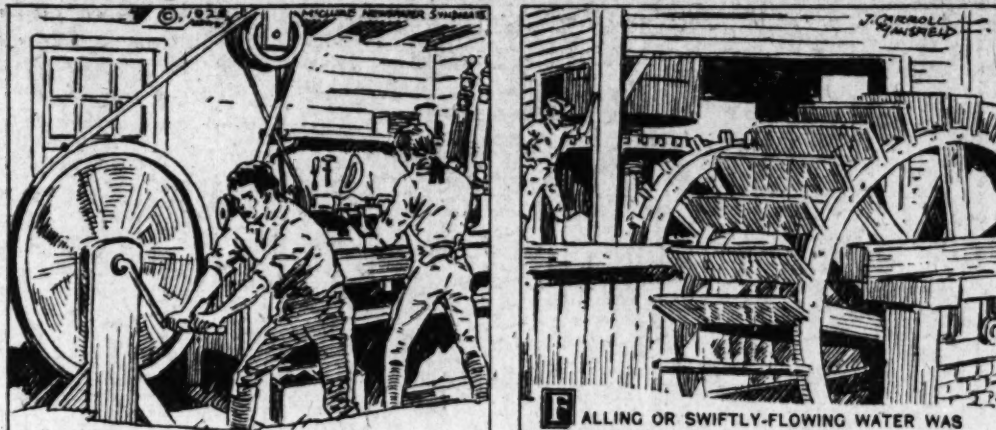

Registered U. S. Patent Office.
8-9-78

WE HAVE BEEN HOW THE RAPID STRIDES MADE BY THE TEXTILE INDUSTRY IN THIS COUNTRY IN THE EARLY 19TH CENTURY WERE DUE TO THE INVENTION OF MACHINERY AND THE INTRODUCTION OF THE FACTORY SYSTEM. OTHER INDUSTRIES WERE STIMULATED IN LIKE MANNER. THEN CAME THE DEMAND FOR A MORE SATISFACTORY MEANS OF PRODUCING POWER TO RUN THE NEW MACHINES.

AT FIRST THE OLD METHODS OF PRODUCING POWER WERE USED TO RUN THE MACHINES. IN SOME FACTORIES TURNPOSTS AND TREADMILLS, TURNED BY HORSES AND GEARED TO THE SHAFTS OF THE MACHINES BY BELTS AND COGWHEELS, WERE EMPLOYED.

The Story of American Industry.
Early Methods of Producing Power.

by J. CARROLL MANSFIELD

IN SHOPS WHERE LESS POWER WAS REQUIRED, VARIOUS DEVICES WERE OPERATED BY HAND. ABOVE IS SHOWN A WHEEL, TURNED BY HAND, WHICH SUPPLIES THE POWER TO RUN THE LATHE OF A COLONIAL FURNITURE MAKER.

FALLING OR SWIFTLY-FLOWING WATER WAS EXTENSIVELY USED AS A SOURCE OF POWER. THERE WERE DIFFERENT TYPES OF WATER WHEELS: THE "OVERSHOT," THE "UNDERSHOT," THE "FLOAT," THE "PITCHBACK" AND OTHERS. IN TIME THE STEAM ENGINE TOOK THE PLACE OF THESE CLUMSY CONTRIVANCES.

TOMORROW—EARLY EXPERIMENTS WITH STEAM.

SANDERS ENTERS RACE FOR POST IN COUNCIL

Friends of Jake Jacobs Hold Rally in Second Ward in His Interest.

Another contest for councilman positions for which nominations will be made in the city democratic primary to be held June 5, loomed Tuesday when William S. Sanders took the field in opposition to Councilman Raleigh Drennon, incumbent, from the ninth. At the same time 12 councilmen, three aldermen, a superintendent of waterworks and four members of the Atlanta board of education will be named.

Friends of Jake Jacobs, candidate for the councilman position from the second ward, held a rally at the Pryor Street school Tuesday night. Among those who spoke in behalf of his candidacy were Dr. George Brown, Fulton county representative in the Georgia legislature; Walter McNeil, and John Pate. Another rally will be staged at 7:30 o'clock next Tuesday night at the Forsyth Street school. Mr. Jacobs is opposed by W. Chester McLendon, a resident of the section for many years.

The other two contests for councilman positions are in the third ward where Councilman J. W. Rountree is opposed by Dr. Edwin Scott and in the tenth ward where Nelson Spratt, incumbent, is opposed by former Alderman Charles M. Ford.

Mr. Jacobs announced that all candidates would be invited to speak at his rally to be held next Tuesday night. He especially extended an invitation to Mr. McLendon to share in the speaking.

In making his formal entry into the contest in opposition to Mr. Drennon, Mr. Sanders declared he would oppose any tax increase, and would seek to institute business and economical methods into administration of the city's finances.

DAY IN FINANCE

By R. L. BARNUM

New York, April 23.—(AP)—Stocks opened higher with trading more active, the price advances and activity continuing until early in the noon hour. 1,800,000 shares changing hands at the first two hours against 1,500,000 shares for the corresponding period yesterday. At one time in the second hour the tape was 19 minutes behind the floor. By noon leading shares were up from 1 to 2 points or more with much larger gains in specialties.

There was no change in time money. Call again opened at 7 1/2 per cent with an active demand and the supply limited. In the noon hour the rate for call money advanced to 8 per cent, with trading in the stock market. Prices, however, continued steady.

American Telephone was again a feature on the reports for shareholders in the offering of convertible bonds. But the feature of the day was Simms Petroleum, one transaction appearing on the tape early in the day of 100,000 shares. This is the largest single transaction in the history of the New York Stock Exchange. Last May a single block of 100,000 shares of General Baking was traded in on the curb market. The previous high on the New York Stock Exchange was 65,000 shares of steel common in June of 1900. That was the time negotiations were on for listing steel common at Paris. The negotiations fell through.

Handled Big Order.

M. J. Meehan, head of the stock exchange firm bearing his name, handled the 100,000-share order in Simms.

Meehan has been one of the most successful in Radio over a year ago. At that time Meehan became physically exhausted handling Radio orders and had to be carried off the stock exchange floor.

Since the market started to recover from the recent decline Meehan has been the largest individual trader on the stock exchange floor. His 100,000-share order in Simms attracted buying by traders who figured that if Meehan wanted 100,000 shares 100 shares or more might be a good thing to have. For the first two hours the turnover in the stock was more than a quarter million shares, 252,000 to be exact. On this buying the price advanced 3 points. It required $1,000,000 cash to handle the Meehan Simms order.

Wall Street expects Bethlehem Steel directors to meet in the next few days and make public the first quarter earnings and also act on dividends.

It is predicted that $4 a share for the common stock will be shown for the first quarter of this year, against 94 cents for the first three months of 1928.

No change is expected in the common dividend.

Figures were published here today showing that for 1927, ten per cent of all personal income tax collected by the government came from profits on stock transactions.

The increase in shares outstanding represents stock issued in connection with the acquisition of the Grasselli Chemical Company earnings from operations for the first quarter of this year, including Grasselli, were $7,442,844, as compared with $3,465,131 in the like period of last year.

Income from the company's investment in General Motors, which amounts to about 23 per cent of its common stock, totalled $1,799,131, or $64,000,000, of which $50,000,000 was to be provided by constitutional amendment, was voiced in the house by Representative P. Tomasello, Jr., of Keokuk, Iowa.

The house bill to restrict judicial circuits of the state, was reported unfavorably by a joint session of judiciary committees this afternoon.

LEVEL BREAK DRIVES 5,000 FROM HOMES

Snow Lake, Ark., April 23.—(AP)—More than 5,000 persons in Phillips and Desha counties were homeless today and at least 14,000 acres of rich farming lands were inundated, the result of a break in the Laconia Circle levee and high water around the main Mississippi river levee at Knowlton's landing, where a fence of workmen was waging a winning fight to prevent a crevasse.

High water from the White river, backed against the circular dyke for several weeks, yesterday forced a gap in the levee more than 200 feet wide. Residents after receiving warnings by telephone and farm bells quickly gathered part of their belongings and hurried to safety. No loss of life was reported. All livestock was saved.

The onrushing waters today had inundated Snow Lake, the only village within the protected area, and some places being nearly 15 feet deep. The Laconia Circle section, a low-lying area, at one time was believed to have been a lake. There is no levee protection for the White river, and the region around it had been under water for several weeks.

The refugees have been housed in box cars and on a string of flat cars belonging to the Missouri Pacific railroad. For several days a railroad has kept a train near Snow Lake for such an emergency.

At Knowlton's Landing engineers were a force of 500 laborers, assisted by a force of 500 laborers, believed they had won their fight to prevent a break in the levee there. The break in the Laconia Circle levee was not expected to endanger the main levee to which the circle dyke joins. Levee engineers believed the break would tend to equalize the pressure against the main levee.

SAVANNAH SELECTED AS ROTARY MEET ENDS

Albany, Ga., April 23.—(AP)—Georgia Rotarians ended the first annual conference of the 60th district here today and during the evening were entertained at a farewell lunch tendered by the Albany Kiwanis Club at Radium Springs.

At the final business session, Savannah was selected for the 1930 conference of the 60th district here today and during the evening were entertained at a farewell lunch tendered by the Albany Kiwanis Club at Radium Springs.

The first joint conference of the two districts will be held in 1931.

Dr. Spright Howell, president of Mercer university, one of the principal speakers on today's program, told the gathering that the world's greatest need was not scientific knowledge, but progress, but rather the development of men. He said Rotary was achieving its greatest service to humanity through its work in behalf of boys.

A. G. Cleveland, Valdosta, and Hattin Lovejoy, LaGrange, also spoke at the final session. They dwelt on the state capital, the Florida house of representatives today issued unanimous and indignant orders for an investigation.

Taking their cue from a resolution introduced by Representative Kelly, Duval, the house ordered appointment of a committee of five members to trace to its source one of the many rumors of the 1929 session, the report that legislators will be presented with a 2 per cent gross sales tax bill.

Kelly's resolution declared that merchants of Florida, opposed to such a tax, had contributed $15,000 in cash to an organization to fight the plan, while $200,000 had been raised upon the merchants for further funds.

In the senate a bill to create the Florida crippled children's commission, with an annual appropriation of $50,000 to erect hospitals and carry out other provisions of the measure was introduced.

Defense against what he termed "propaganda" that the 1929 session of the legislature had already appropriated $64,000,000, of which $50,000,000 was to be provided by constitutional amendment, was voiced in the house by Representative P. Tomasello, Jr., of Keokuk, Iowa.

The house bill to restrict judicial circuits of the state, was reported unfavorably by a joint session of judiciary committees this afternoon.
